Five Left Dead In Wake of Blizzard

Schools Remain Closed

All County Roads Opened

Weather forecasters said the winter's worst blizzard was over today, although five known dead were left in its wake, schools were closed and highways were termed "dangerous."

Fair and warmer weather is expected to reach Mansfield Sunday and continue through Monday.

Shiloh school was the only school in the Richland county system in session today. All rural schools in the county closed yesterday.

All county roads were reported open today. Crews worked throughout the night, employing five plows, seven trucks carrying cinders and salt and four-bladed maintainers in the snow-removal drive.

The state highway patrol reported State Route 13 very slippery between Mansfield and Sandusky yesterday but the combination of large highway crews and a warm sun were expected to clear it today.

Traffic continued to move slowly through the city's downtown section this morning despite efforts of street crews who fought parked cars and traffic in a drive to clean the streets of heavy snow and slush.

THREE ACCIDENTS

State highway patrolmen reported three minor accidents on highways near the city last night caused by slippery conditions. No personal injuries were incurred in the accidents, however. Patrolmen said moderating temperatures which reached 25 degrees at noon were helping road conditions and that highways would be clear by tonight.

In town, however, motorists were faced with more hazardous conditions than they experienced yesterday. Much of the wet snow which measured between six and seven inches, froze and posed new problems for drivers. Some motorists abandoned their cars on streets and walked home last night.

Six inches of snow and drifted country roads resulted in the closing of three Crawford county consolidated schools yesterday. Classes, however, at Holmes-Liberty, Lykens and New Washington, were expected to be resumed today.

Rural mail carriers at the Bucyrus post office made complete trips yesterday, but, in many instances, waded through several ship, and Lyle C. Lebaron, 23, of Madison village.

City to Tow Cars Away

Cars left in "no parking" areas while streets are being cleaned will be towed away, City Street Supt. E. W. Davis said today.

He said motorists last night failed to heed the request to leave their cars off the streets so snow plows could operate.

"We put the no-parking signs up at midnight last night, and we have only 50 per cent of the job completed," Davis said. "We are renting equipment so we can get the snow away from the curb, and we're going to get it cleaned up tonight if we have to haul all the cars away."

Many Mansfielders were forced to abandon their cars on downtown streets last night after snow from the sidewalks was shoveled under the cars, making it impossible to move the autos. Snow plows, employed by the city, then hemmed the cars in on the other side by pushing the heavy and wet snow under the other side of the autos.

"We're not getting much cooperation from the public," Davis said. "It's costing us $5 an hour for a rented grader and $6.25 an hour for a front-end loader. The only reason we're renting equipment is to get the streets cleaned up for the shoppers and the merchants.

Police reported three cars were hauled in this morning when they were found blocking driveways, and Davis said two parking meters on West Third street were broken off yesterday by motorists who ran over the sidewalk in attempting to park.

1½ Million Joint 'Y' Proposed

A joint YMCA-YWCA building, centrally located in Mansfield and costing approximately $1,500,000, was proposed last night as the next move in "Operation Tomorrow."

A. B. Grafton, president of the YMCA, said the new building would provide 60 rooms for girls and 125 rooms for men. There would be dormitory facilities, which are not available in the present structures.

The proposal was presented to the Citizens Committee on Social Survey by representatives of the boards of the directors of the two "Y" organizations at a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce Assembly room.

After nearly two hours of discussion the Citizens Committee approved the YM-YW building campaign as the next step in "Operation Tomorrow" which began with a survey of the city's social agencies and has seen the erection of a new Friendly House building and approval of renovation of the Salvation Army building.

George H. Smith, chairman of the board of directors of the Salvation Army, announced that the current renovation fund drive for $15,000 will be completed by mid-April.

Mrs. Robert F. Horn, vice-president of the board of directors of the YWCA, reported that directors of both "Y's" had voted for a combined drive for "adjoining buildings with separate entrances." One swimming pool and one heating plant would serve both buildings, she said.

SOME FUNDS READY

Funds now "in sight," according to Grafton, are $39,000 in the YM building fund, expected receipts from the sale of the present YM building of $100,000 and another anticipated $35,000 from the sale of the present YW structure. This would leave approximately $1,326,000 to be raised by public subscription.

Maurice Taylor, executive secretary of the YMCA, said one of two nationally-known fund-rais-

Business Hits Peak

Lumbermens Mutual Insurance company announced today that during January and February of this year the company has done the biggest business in its history.

The first sixty days of 1949 brought the biggest increase in premiums written, even when compared with 1948 which was called "the best year in the company's history" by President and general manager, Charles E. Nail.

In a report to the board of directors Nail said: "Lumbermens established new records in premiums written, the total for 1948 being $5,077,665, an increase of almost $900,000 over 1947. Assets increased $1,200,000 making the new total $7,086,657, while the surplus of the company rose to an all time high of $1,962,416.

Premiums paid to policyholders during the year totaled $567,990.

Lorain Angry Over Remarks

LORAIN — (INS) — Mayor Thomas A. Burke of Cleveland isn't very welcome in Lorain.

Burke reportedly said Wednesday that he was "against any proposal that would make a big city out of Lorain and a desert out of Cleveland" when discussing the proposed 103-mile conveyor belt from East Liverpool to Lorain.

Many in Lorain labeled Burke's remark an "assinine statement" while others said he probably was only joking.

EX-PRINCIPAL SUCCUMBS

TOLEDO — (INS) — James A. Pollock, 72, former principal of Waite high school in Toledo for 11 years, died today of a heart attack in front of his home.

'We Didn't Like the Drink'

Bandit Given Last Rites; Buddy Brags

One of two Mansfield reformatory parolees who have admitted the "Jesse James" train hold-up near Martinsburg, W. Va., lay near death today. The other bragged of his "spur of the moment" escapade.

Twenty-year-old George Llewellyn Ashton, who entered OSR in 1946 as a juvenile delinquent, explained to federal authorities in Washington, D. C., today it all started because "the club car porter gave us a drink we didn't like."

Ashton said he and his companion, Marine veteran Luman C. Ramsdell, 22, "went back to our seats in one of the coaches and got our guns out of our suitcases. Then we came back to the club car and held up the steward."

Asked why he beat some of the passengers with the butt of his gun, Ashton replied:

"When they gave us some lip, we slugged 'em just to let 'em know we meant business."

Ramsdell, given the last rites of the Catholic church today in a Washington hospital, was reported in a critical condition from a gunshot wound which pierced his liver. Ramsdall was shot by a Washington policeman who "beat him to the draw" when the officer asked the two youths to identify themselves in a pawnbroker's shop only five blocks from the White House.

LUCAS MAN SAVES $5

Meanwhile, a Lucas resident who was one of several people robbed by the gunslinging pair on the train, told The News-Journal today how he saved $5 from the bandits by hiding it under his pillow in the B. and O.'s Ambassador day coach.

"I saw them coming and I slipped $5 under my pillow. I was leaning against the window," Earl Paine said.

"They took my billfold, took $10 and returned it. All their actions were very deliberate. They took only money, no checks.

Paine, a recent resident of the Lucas community, explained he was returning home on the train after visiting relatives in Washington. Paine resides two and a half miles south of Lucas.

Both Ashton and Ramsdall are from Youngstown, Mahoning county. Ashton was received at the reformatory on Jan. 28, 1946 to serve a one-year-to-age sentence for auto theft. He was paroled on Feb. 25, 1947.

Ramsdell, reportedly "in and out of trouble with the police" since he was 16, was received on Jan. 10, 1947 and sentenced from one to 20 years for operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent. He was paroled on Jan. 21, 1948.

OSR officials said both youths had good conduct records while at the institution. Ramsdell, who enlisted with the Marine corps during World War II spent 28 days on the beaches of Okinawa, then returned to America with a case of combat fatigue, Youngstown police said.

Jury Finds Sal Guilty

Defense to Ask For New Trial

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Mildred E. (Axis Sally) Gillars verdict: guilty of treason.

Her punishment for broadcasting propaganda for the wartime German radio still is to be fixed It may be a week or more before she knows what it is.

The maximum sentence is death in the electric chair; the minimum, five years in prison, a $10,000 fine and loss of her American citizenship.

Even in advance of sentencing, Miss Gillars' attorney served notice he is not through fighting.

His first step, said James J. Laughlin, will be to file a motion asking Federal Judge Edward M. Curran to set aside the verdict and order a new trial. If his motion is denied, Laughlin told reporters, he will carry the case to the higher courts.

"I wish those who judged me would be willing to risk their lives for America as I did," 'Axis Sally' said.

Irked Jaywalker Stabs Policeman

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Patrolman Anton Holub was stabbed today on Public square by a pedestrian he halted for jaywalking.

The jaywalker, a 29-year-old man who said he had no home, was subdued after a struggle witnessed by scores at the Marshall building corner of the square at Superior avenue and west Roadway.

Holub was not seriously hurt.

Hint 'Deal' With Agent

Seek to Have Girl Tell All

BULLETIN

NEW YORK —(INS)— Brooklyn-born Judith Coplon and Valentin A. Gubitchev, Soviet employe of the United Nations, pleaded not guilty today to all counts of a federal indictment accusing them of conspiracy to commit espionage.

★

WASHINGTON — (UP) — A House spy hunter suggested today that the Justice department make a deal with Judith Coplon, the government girl indicted on espionage charges.

Rep. Francis E. Walter, D., Pa., a member of the House unAmerican Activities committee, said "It would be an excellent idea to promise her leniency in return for information on her activities."

Miss Coplon, a political analyst in the Justice department's foreign agents registration section, was arrested a week ago today in New York with Valentin A. Gubitchev, a Russian attached to the United Nations staff.

A federal grand jury in New York indicted the pair yesterday on charges of espionage. One of the accusations against Miss Coplon is that she attempted to deliver secret U. S. information to a foreign power. So far, the 27-year-old Barnard college honor graduate has refused to make any statement to federal officials.

Rep. Richard M. Nixon, R., Cal., another member of the un-American Activities committee, agreed with Walter that a "deal" might be valuable. But he suggested caution on the whole matter.

Conference Considered

CLEVELAND — (AP) — A proposal for an unprecedented conference on religious liberty between top Protestant world leaders and the Vatican comes before representatives of 35,000,000 American Protestants today.

Consideration of the plan is expected near the close of a four-day conference on Christian influences in international affairs. Sponsoring the meeting is the department of International Justice and Good Will of the Federal council of Churches of Christ in America.

The resolution said the conference was needed "in order that clear understanding be reached as to what each (Protestant and Catholic faiths) means by religious liberty for all men, everywhere and under every form of government."

Burghers Protest; Can't Get Beer

Airlift Boom Wrecks Village's Peaceful Routine

CELLE, Germany—(AP)—The Berlin blockade has ended 700 years of slow, quiet life for the town of Celle.

Life is growing too lurid, the town fathers say. Girls walk up and down the streets, flaunting nylon stockings and lipstick. Some even have boozy breaths.

They aren't Celle's girls. They followed the blockade-busting airlift crews here.

The town council is up in arms. Orders have gone out that any citizens who rent rooms to visitors will be punished and publicly denounced as contributing to "an immoral invasion."

Celle became a boom town after the Anglo-American airlift feeding Berlin built up the Fassberg airport on the British-American zone border. Celle is the nearest city. Pilots call Fassberg "Dead End Street." Unless one can get into Celle, there is nothing to do but twirl thumbs in Fassburg.

Three thousand young American air corps men have gone through Celle like a cyclone. What hurts the old burghers the most is that it is getting harder and harder to get a drink in their favorite saloon.

The merchants haven't gone along with the town council's ideas. They're doing a land office business.

As more and more Americans came into Celle, the mark developed a new value. Around Christmas time, one dollar would bring 18 to 20 marks on the black market. A bottle of champagne cost 35 marks. Today it's hard to get even eight marks to the dollar.

"The American soldier is the sucker," the British-licensed newspaper Social Democrat commented. "He can spend now 500 marks a month instead of 2,000."

The taximen are getting rich. They work 20 hours a day hauling soldiers from Fassberg to Celle and back. A one-way trip costs five dollars.

The girls who followed the soldiers are not registered with the labor office nor do they draw German food rations.

About a third of the girls came from the Russian zone, "hungry and worn out," the paper said.

Once a week the "blue wagon" rolls up to restaurants and cafes and hauls 50 girls at a time to the German physician for venereal disease checkups.

Says the town council:

"The airlift is necessary. Daily 1,800 tons of goods are transported to Berlin from here. The pilots have a full right of recreation, but people in Celle are disgusted."

Money Pours In to Aid Fire Victims

MOUNT VERNON — (AP) — Citizens, business men, unions, and industries here have contributed $13,690 to aid Kenyon college students, who lost clothing, books, and personal possessions in the old Kenyon dormitory fire Feb. 27.

Residents of Gambier, five miles east of here where Kenyon is located, have also contributed approximately $2,000.

Fifteen students were left practically destitute and some 25 others lost most of their belongings in the fire, in which nine students were killed and 25 others injured.

Will Scrap Small City Rent Curbs

New Decontrol Plan Revealed

WASHINGTON—(AP)—In a desperate bid to save rent controls for big cities and defense areas, the administration today promised to scrap rent ceilings in more than 100 rural and small city areas.

Rep. Patman (D., Tex.) announced the decontrol plan.

At the same time he predicted "a wave of strikes" over the country, if Congress fails to continue rent controls for industrial areas where there are housing shortages.

"The workers simply cannot stand rent increases from 50 to 500 per cent," Patman said.

"A vote to kill rent controls is a vote for strike."

The administration's move came as Republicans with the help of some Democrats threatened to take over the reins in the House and limit any rent control extension to only 90 days.

It confronted President Truman with his biggest test of power in the new Congress.

Farmer Tells Of Sighting Giant Turtle

CHURUBURCO, Ind. — (INS)— Farmer Gale Harris is all set today to land the big one that got away, but he's not sure whether it will end up in the soup or on display.

The elusive catch actually is monstrous if you can believe Harris and several other persons who say they saw it—a turtle "as big as a dining room table."

The farmer claimed the turtle "slipped away" after he landed him in a net last Saturday but he may have trouble disposing of the terrapin.

Seek Youth In Death of Dean

BURLESON, Tex., — (INS) — The ward of a 70-year-old Texas Christian university dean was sought today for questioning in connection with the educator's bludgeon murder.

Texas authorites sounded an alarm for Arthur Clayton Hester, 18, who was seen last in El Paso, hours before Dr. John Lord, graduate school dean, was found murdered in his Burleson home.

The dean had been struck nine times in the back of the head with what authorities believe was an ax.

Chinese General To Be Latest Premier

NANKING — (INS) — The Chinese Parliament is expected today to confirm the nomination of Gen. Ho Ying-Chin as premier.

Acting President Li Tsung-Jen nominated Gen. Ho, a former minister of national defense, to the premiership vacated earlier this week by Sun Fo.

THREE CARS DERAILED

FREDERICKSBURG, Va. — (AP) — Three cars of the northbound Silver Comet were reported derailed one mile south of here about 8:40 a. m. today. Reports were that no one was injured.

Citizens Prepare Petitions

Rowland Avenue Project Pushed

Initiative petitions to place a proposed $600,000 Rowland avenue viaduct before the voters will be circulated in the city within a few days, City Solicitor C. J. Kalbfleisch said today.

The proposal calls for a vote in November on a bond issue to finance the project.

If a Citizens' committee, which is seeking the bond issue vote, obtains 1,100 signatures, the proposal will go on the November ballot.

The proposed concrete viaduct would span the Baltimore and Ohio and Erie railway right-of-ways from Rowland avenue to the intersection of Howard and Reed streets, the city solocitor said.

The project has been in the "talking" stage in Mansfield for more than 30 years.

A citizens' committee of north-end residents headed by Marion W. Sackman, 539 McPherson street, took the proposal to city council May 4, 1948.

Legislation to place the issue on the ballot by initiative petition is being completed by Kalbfleisch. He said the petitions would be ready to circulate in "a day or two."

No trouble is expected in getting the signatures, Kalbfleisch said. The issue will require a 65 per cent vote to carry.

800 FEET LONG

The span, which would be more than 800 feet long, would connect the north end to the remainder of the city and give north end residents needed fire protection and an unobstructed traffic artery, it was pointed out.

At the present time two streets connect the north end with the rest of the city, and both cross both railroad right-of-ways.

Bowman street and Trimble road, the two connecting arteries, are a mile and a half apart. Between these two roads there is no way for a north-end motorist to reach his home from the central part of town.

"Fire protection is poor in the north end," Sackman said.

"Our children who attend school on Fourth street have to go a mile out of the way or else cross the railroad tracks by cutting through to the Rowland avenue area on a towpath," Sackman said.

OFTEN CUT OFF

More than once the north end has been cut off from the remainder of the city by floods. Touby's Run winds through the low area where the rail right-of-ways are located.

The two streets that lead to the north end are sometimes blocked by trains for periods as long as a half hour, Sackman said.

"When some important event is occurring in Mansfield the two streets from the north end are so badly jammed it is nearly impossible to leave our homes," he added.

Floods Ease In Midwest

(By United Press)

Doctors inoculated flood-stricken residents of Crete, Neb., with typhoid serum today as the Big Blue river receded and 100 families prepared to return to their homes.

About 125 families at Beatrice, Neb., were cleaning the silt and trash from their houses as the river's crest rolled downstream.

The flood dangers over most of the Missouri valley appeared to be easing as a prolonged cold spell hung over the area and retarded the melting of winter snows.

Norfolk, Neb., authorities were attempting to blast an ice jam that caused the Elkhorn river to pour over five blocks of the town, surrounding four houses and forcing 25 persons from their homes.

She Won't Go Back to the Jungle!

'Wild' Girl Succumbs to City's Lure

MEXICO CITY — (INS) — Crucita Reyes, the savage Tarahumara Indian girl whom Professor Filiberto Gomez of the U. S. embassy in Mexico City has been trying to civilize, has her tutor gravely worried.

She doesn't want to go home!

Professor Gomez, one of Mexico's greatest authorities on the completely uncivilized Tarahumara Indian tribe of north Mexico, brought Crucita to this capital several months ago from her jungle home.

The purpose was mutual assistance.

Crucita was to help Professor Gomez with his grammar of the Tarahumara Indian language; Professor Gomez was to educate Crucita in the ways of civilization so she could apply them to the life of her tribe when her course of instruction was over.

But Crucita has succumbed to the lure of tall buildings, automobiles, the cinema and the other artifices of civilization. She takes a bath three times a week now where formerly she had bathed only when caught in the rain.

High-heeled shoes, a permanent wave, hair oil, perfume and bright-colored clothes have enchanted her.

She goes to the movies every time she can save a couple of pesos. She loves to ride in automobiles.

And emphatically, she doesn't want to go home!

Professor Gomez, reminding her of the purpose of the experiment, asked her if she wouldn't like to go back and marry a Tarahumara boy. Crucita lost her husband and two children in a flu epidemic some years ago.

Her answer to that might have come from any young farm girl of 24 who had seen the city for the first time.

"I want to marry a Mexican boy and stay in Mexico City," she told Professor Gomez.

"You can buy anything here, go to the movies, wear shoes and not have to work so hard."

If she did go back, she said, no one would pay any attention to her advice.

Six Bodies Identified

GAMBIER — (AP) — The remains of six students missing in the Kenyon college fire have been identified, the college announced yesterday

Officials said they had completed a search of the ruins of Old Kenyon dormitory, which was destroyed by flames Feb. 27. With the six missing students, the death toll was nine.

President Gordon K. Chalmers said the State Highway Patrol had removed the remains of all six students to the Dowd funeral home in Mount Vernon, identifying each individual.

He said Coroner C. L. Harmer of Knox county has signed death certificates for each.

The six students were: Ernest Ahwajee of Akron, 19-year-old sophomore; Albert J. Lewis, 19, sophomore, Hazelton, Pa.; George Pincus, 19, junior, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Stephen Shepard, 19, freshman, New York City; Colin Woodworth, 20, sophomore, Jamaica Plains, Mass.; and Martin E. Mangel, 18, freshman, New York City.

Shufelt was with us last year. He still has his winning smile and way. With his rich baritone voice he will thrill your soul and make you sing.

If you sing, come and join the "Volunteer Chorus Choir," which Shufelt will direct.

LES BARNETT

Pianist

Barnett, who was at one time pianist for Rudy Valee, Martha Ray, and other noted Hollywood and radio entertainers, was saved in a revival in Illinois.

He will tell of his conversion in a message, "From Hollywood to Pulpit," a message which is interspersed with piano numbers.

Jack Shuler of Baldwin Park, California, comes to us well recommended by sponsors of other city revivals. His latest was in Lima, Ohio, Jan. 30 through Feb. 20. God is using him in a great way to save souls. He is a son of a nationally known Methodist minister and editor and a graduate of Bob Jones College of Columbia, S. C., and Asbury College at Wilmore, Kentucky. His work is interdenominational in character and non-sectarian in spirit. He never injects doctrinal or controversial issues into his preaching.

Sermon Topics Jack Shuler Will Be Discussing:

"GOD'S WATERLOO"
"THE CHURCH AND SPIRITUAL BIRTH CONTROL"
"NEW MEN IN OLD CLOTHES"
"THE GATEWAY TO THE STARS"
"THE MAN WHO GOT HIS HAIR CUT IN THE WRONG BARBER SHOP"

"HISTORY'S HORROR PICTURE"
"THE ROAD TO CERTAINTY"
"OUT ON A LIMB"
"SEVEN DUCKS IN MUDDY WATER"
"THREE ROADS TO HELL"

"SKELETONS AND JELLYFISH"
"THE LOST OPPORTUNITY"

The Revival is being sponsored by the "Fishers of Men," a local organization of Church laymen in Mansfield, and some 26 Protestant Churches of the city. Our object is to present the "BIBLE" as the inspired word of God and the way of salvation by the Cross of Jesus Christ and his Blood for the remission of sin. And to bring greater fellowship of Christians of Mansfield.

New Flowers For Your Garden

By DEAN HALLIDAY

Three new prize-winning flowers are ready to add glamor to your garden. They are Silver Medal petunia, Indian summer hollyhock and Blue Star morning glory.

The new petunia, which won the All America silver medal and the bronze medal winning hollyhock are illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph.

Silver Medal petunia is the second winner in a new hybrid class called multiflora, rose-pink Sensation petunia being the first, in 1948.

Silver Medal petunia received the highest rating of the three 1949 All America winners. It has a rich salmon coloring, strong growth and is extremely free-flowering. It is well-suited to bedding and cutting uses and can be used in arrangements, even under artificial light.

This new petunia comes into bloom very early, practically covering the strong erect, bushy 18-inch plants with large single flowers, as illustrated. It continues blooming until freezing weather. The flowers are large and more abundant than standard petunias.

The new hollyhock, Indian Summer, produces giant double flowers the first year it is planted from seed. The flowers come in an assortment of pastel colors, including soft yellow, chamois and white.

The growth of this hollyhock is strong and straight with rich foliage. The flower stalks reach a height of five feet. Although they are called annual hollyhocks—because they will bloom the first year from seed—they are of perennial nature and will last for years.

Medical Aide's Error Turns Veteran Into a Drug Addict

CLEVELAND —(INS) — The tale of how a former air force captain was turned into a drug addict by a medical technician's error was unfolded yesterday in Cleveland Federal Court.

The story came from Frank Steel, assistant district attorney and prosecutor of Capt. John T. Murphy, who pleaded guilty to forging a narcotics prescription stolen from a doctor's office.

According to Steel, Murphy, then a sergeant, volunteered as a guinea pig in an army experiment he was to take a heavy dose of sulfa drugs.

A medical technician, administering the drugs, mistook an abbreviation of "grains" for "grams" and gave Murphy 40 grams, more than 15 times the extra heavy dose ordered by the doctor.

The heavy dose resulted in extreme kidney ailments for Murphy and he came close to death on one occasion. However, he recovered somewhat and because of recurring attacks of kidney stones, he was given morphine ampules to use as needed.

Murphy was discharged from the army in 1947, but the pains persisted. Four months ago Murphy realized that he had become a drug addict, according to Steel.

He reported immediately to the veterans administration and it was decided to send him to Lexington, Ky., narcotics hospital.

However, Steel continued, cut off from morphine by his civilian physician and still suffering unbearable pain, Murphy resorted to forging morphine prescriptions.

Two New Big Ten Scoring Marks Set By Jim McIntyre

CHICAGO—(AP)—Jim McIntyre, Minnesota's skyscraper center who intends to become a minister now that his Big Nine basketball career is ended, scored 648 points in his four year stint—a new league high mark.

The rangy Gopher's three-year total for 1947-48-49 also smashed the three-year mark set by Andy Phillip of Illinois during the 1942-43 and 1947 campaigns.

A new field goal marksmanship record also went to McIntyre who hit 68 of 181 attempts for a .376 mark. The previous record was .374 posted by Indiana's Ralph Hamilton in 1947.

Feline, Doves Sharing Meals

CHICAGO — (UP) — Ambrose, the cat, always has four doves for dinner guests

When John Petersen, a building maintenance man, bought Ambrose as a kitten three years ago, he was disturbed when he saw the pet chase birds.

He made a wire cage for Ambrose bought two pairs of doves, and arranged a feeding trough for the birds just outside the cat's cage The cat was put in the cage every time the doves were fed, and eventually was let out of the cage at the birds' meal time.

Now the doves won't eat unless Ambrose is there, too. The birds and the cat also sleep together, Petersen said.

Cat's System Proves Cinch To Beat Slots

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — (UP) — A slot machine-loving cat is causing its owner plenty of embarrassment in this gambling mecca.

Tommie, the nine-month-old feline, usually can be found perched alongside one of the machines in Grant Stewart's grocery store.

When a customer hits a payoff in one of the one-armed bandits, Tommie dips a paw in the cup, scoops the coins onto a table and runs off with as many as he can cram into his mouth. The coins are kept in a secret cache.

Stewart thought it was a cute trick—until he discovered Tommie was using the same technique on the open and untended cash register.

Amended
Regulation "W" has now been amended, permitting longer terms on the purchase of late model cars. This change will mean lower monthly payments when paying on a car out of income. We think now is the logical time to purchase a car while prices are down and payments are made easier. Our policy is to continue to sell better cars at prices below the prevailing market. We are able to do that because of our low overhead and volume business. We are sure you will save considerably by seeing us before making a purchase.

Lausche 'Ducks' Oleo Fight; House Defeat of Bill Looms

Fair Play Plea Saves Proposal

Fear Act Faces Roll-Call Death

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Governor Lausche is maintaining a strict hands-off attitude in the colored oleomargarine battle now raging in the House of Representatives.

The governor only laughs when newsmen ask him how he stands on the most controversial question yet to come before the 98th Ohio General assembly.

Hence the bill seems headed for a more-or-less honorable death on the battlefield of the House floor rather than execution in a House committee.

Although passed by the Senate, the measure, which would permit the manufacture and sale of colored oleomargarine in the state, pretty obviously is shy eight or ten votes of the 69-vote majority necessary to carry it through the House.

However, the House, in the spirit of fair play, granted it a temporary reprieve by sending it to the Industry and Labor committee. Eleven of the 15 committee members are from the "big eight" cities where oleo sentiment is strongest.

Thus it appears likely that the bill will be recommended for passage, be brought to a vote, and then be killed on a record roll-call.

Die-hard farm bloc opponents, fearful that the measure will hurt their dairy industry, attempted for two days, without success, to send it to certain death in the Agriculture committee—19 of whose 21 members are from farm areas.

Finally, however, the House acceded to the fair-play request of the majority leader, Rep. A. G. Lancione, (D-Belmont) to give the bill the chance of a fair fight.

Said the diminutive leader:

"If this bill must be defeated, let it be defeated on the floor by the full House membership, and not sent to its death in some committee."

A floor defeat would not end the fight to permit factory-colored oleo.

The bill was placed before the legislature by initiative petition—that is, some 200,000 voters signed petitions to bring it before the lawmakers, although only 69,000 signatures were needed.

If the bill is not passed in four months—by the end of April—in a form acceptable to its backers, they may circulate new petitions. If they get an additional 69,000 or more signatures, the question then will be placed directly before the people in November.

$1,500,000 Joint 'Y' Plan Bared

ing agencies would be invited to make a preliminary survey. If they found conditions satisfactory for the drive, the would be employed to raise the money either on a percentage or a retainer-fee basis.

The Citizens Committee withheld comment or action on this plan for fund raising.

In previous campaigns under "Operation Tomorrow" no outside agency has participated. After the goal had been set and plans approved the benefiting agency conducted its own campaign to raise one-third of the total. The remaining two-thirds of the cost was contributed by the Manufacturers club of the Chamber of Commerce.

Don Kirkpatrick, chairman of the Citizens Committee, outlined this previous procedure to the visiting representatives, before calling for a vote to designate the YM-YW drive as the next in the long-range program of improving physical facilities of the city's youth agencies.

Israel, Trans-Jordan Sign Cease-Fire; Troops Clash

(Compiled From Wire Services).

Even as Israel and Trans-Jordan officials signed a cease-fire agreement this morning, the Israeli government announced the seizure of a five-mile coastal strip in south Palestine after a clash between Jewish and Arab troops.

Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett announced that Israeli and Trans-Jordan troops had clashed at the tip of Palestine which juts onto the Gulf of Aqaba between the borders of Egypt and Trans-Jordan.

Just across the border at the Trans-Jordan hamlet of Aqaba, British troops had been stationed since the Palestine crisis at the turn of the year, when heavy fighting was going on along the Egyptian border.

Announcement of the cease-fire agreement came as a special United Nations observer, Swedish Dr. Paul Munn, prepared to fly to Aqaba to check on reports that an Israeli column had advanced through the Negev to the British-held Trans-Jordan port of Aqaba on the Red sea.

The Israeli and Trans-Jordan delegations had agreed in principle to a cease fire early last week in separate talks with Dr. Ralph Bunche, United Nations mediator.

Some UN quarters feared the formal agreement might be delayed as a result of the reported Israeli troop movements in the border area near Aqaba.

Area Papers Win Awards

Four Mansfield area weekly newspapers shared in the Hooper Newspaper show awards presented today by Dr. James E. Pollard, director of the Ohio State university School of Journalism. The contest was a feature of the Ohio Newspaper association convention in Columbus.

500 Attend Lucas Show

LUCAS — Talent of 40 Lucas community housewives triumphed over weather conditions last night to attract more than 500 people to the opening performance of the community variety show in the Lucas school.

Second performance of the production sponsored by the Lucas Mothers Club and directed by Mansfielder Harold McCuen will be staged here at 8:15 this evening.

The show opening with a minstrel in a deep south setting that shifted to one of the Gay Nineties era for part two. Sceneries and lighting effects were designed and executed by Mansfielder Richard Galliway.

End characters, Winkin, Blinkin, Nod, Quakin, Shakin, and Odd, portrayed by Mary Pore, Martha Cooke, Marcia Hardin, Fern Moffett, Marhie McCready and Maxine Mitchell, kept up a hilarious repartee between specialties they and members of the chorus presented. Mrs. Flossie Heilman was a capable interlocutor.

"The Villain Still Pursued Her," a melodrama by Gladys Kohler, Joan Robinson, Marietta Hammett and Winifred Woods, was a riotous comedy of bygone days. Closing feature of the Gay Nineties review was a rhymic Floradora presentation of six pretty maidens and their gayly-garbed escorts.

The world's citrus output for 1946-47 was 10 per cent larger than the year before.

feet of drifted snow to deliver mail.

The state highway patrol said the snow was drifting near Bowling Green, Toledo, Fremont and Tiffin.

Despite the intensity of the storm, temperatures held only slightly below freezing. The mercury is not expected to fall below the 20-mark anywhere throughout the state.

At least three elderly men already have died as a result of over-exertion while shoveling snow. The victims were James A. Pollock, 72, of Toledo, and Joseph Breitsch, 76, and Louis F. Hoffman, 64, of Cleveland.

Two brothers-in-law were killed when their car smashed into the side of a Nickel Plate railroad passenger train in Painesville during a blinding blizzard. Dead were Francis D. Muzzio, 25, of Madison township, 40 miles north of Canberra.

Fire Closes Tower at Rail Crossing

The crossing watchman's tower at the East Fourth street crossing of the Pennsylvania railroad was put out of operation yesterday afternoon by a blaze which firemen said started from oil-soaked rags.

A watchman was placed at the crossing until the gates control tower is repaired.

Firemen from Central and No. 2 stations battled the flames for nearly an hour.

Firemen said Tower Watchman Harry L. Wright, 163 Penn avenue, told them he was thawing out a frozen bell with rags soaked in kerosene when the fire started.

The structure's window frame and half of the roof were burned.

Earthquakes Strike

Lima Choir Acclaimed By Pupils

Visitors Sing At Senior High

By NITA BRANSON

Demands for repeated encores greeted the a cappella choir from Central high school, Lima, when it gave a concert before Senior high school pupils at 10:30 a. m. today.

Directed by William Temple, the choir gave a smooth flowing program, but it was the soloists who won the most applause of Senior high students.

Rolland Findlay who sang the solo for the boys' ensemble production of "One Alone," by Romberg, had an unusually rich voice. A. LeMoine Derr, who directs the Senior high school choirs here, said it was one of the finest high school voices he had ever heard. Findlay repeated the song as an encore.

A brass quartet, including Neal Christy, Robert Stebbins, Nolan Smith and David Kellemayer, presented Chopin's "Polonaise" in technically perfect rhythm and gave "Song of the Lark" by Mendelssohn, as an encore.

Larry Rusk's piano solo, "C Sharp Minor Prelude" by Rachmaninoff, was greeted with enthusiasm.

The program opened with three sacred songs, because of the Lenten season, the group closing with the spiritual "Were You There?"

Accompanying the choir and Temple to Mansfield today were Miss Gayle Howie, dean of girls at Lima's Central high, and Harold O. Clark, band leader. They and the choir were guests of the Mansfield choir at luncheon in the cafeteria.

Today's concert will be returned by the Senior high choirs here when Derr takes them to Lima the latter part of this month. A preview of their concert was given Wednesday evening at Senior high auditorium.

A nearly full house heard the choirs sing sacred and secular songs. Derr said the crowd was one of the most enthusiastic audiences the choir had ever had.

3 Terrorize Countryside

TURNER, Kans. —(INS)— Three gun-toting desperados terrorized some 40 pupils and a teacher in a rural Wyandotte county school today and then defiantly barricaded themselves in a farmhouse near Turner.

Authorities waited for reinforcements before deciding whether to shoot it out with the men.

Radio calls for assistance were dispatched to units of the Kansas highway patrol as other state highway patrolmen and sheriff's deputies closed in on the looters.

ITU Strike Nears End

CHICAGO —(UP)— Chicago newspaper publishers have submitted a full contract proposal, including a $10 weekly wage increase, to striking AFL printers and the union agreed to submit the terms to its contracts department for approval.

The union said that if the contract proposal is approved by the International Union, it will be submitted to a vote of Chicago printers who have been on strike against five daily newspapers nearly 16 months since Nov. 24, 1947.

Estimates are that the strikers have lost more than $9,545,000 in wages. Many have taken other jobs or left the city. In addition, strike benefits paid to the idle typesetters have cost the International union an estimated $7,000,000.

The newspapers affected are the Chicago Tribune, Herald-American, Daily News, Sun-Times and Journal of Commerce. They have continued to publish throughout the long strike with a photo-engraving process that substitutes for the type-setting work of the strikers.

Coach Talks To Kiwanians

Augie Morningstar, Senior high football coach, explained the value of athletics to high school students in addressing the Mansfield Kiwanis club yesterday on "The Athletic Program in Mansfield Schools."

Morningstar told how an athletic program can contribut to a boy's development of character and initiative by teaching sportsmanship and educating the mind to make quick decisions.

Mansfield's rooters were commended for "backing up" the high school teams.

Thomas B. Wright and Al Hartman were inducted into the club at the meeting and were welcomed by the group. Robert Lynch was program chairman and arranged for Morningstar to be present.

Council-Manager Plan Sponsored

AFTER a number of years of pro and con discussion the subject of adopting a city manager form of government in Mansfield has finally reached the tangible point of committee organization designed to further this movement in expectation of presenting the issue for decision by voters at some future time.

What is known as a Citizens' Committee for Council-Manager Plan is now in process of formation. It is presented as an entirely non-partisan activity and its arguments are based on weakness of the present system of making frequent changes of administration and policies, choice of inexperienced men as mayor, and the wastefulness of entrusting public business to incompetent persons.

In support of the council-manager plan it is explained that selection of a city manager is made from among men educated, trained and experienced in that particular field, and it is also pointed out that more than 850 cities are already operating under the manager plan, and that the movement is now spreading more rapidly than at any time since it was started in 1912.

While no immediate change is in prospect in Mansfield, this is a subject of such general interest—and concern—that every citizen may be expected to keep close tab on the progress of the movement . . . as this seems a logical time to present the question for consideration.

Imitators of Jesse James Lose Out

IT'S NO GOOD, BOYS—The methods of Jesse James and other early-day bandits, do not fit into the picture of modern methods of communication, transportation and crime-detection.

That train robbery down near Martinsburg, W. Va., Wednesday night, for instance, was a senseless sort of thing, as evidenced by the speed with which its youthful perpetrators were rounded up.

It will scarcely escape notice that both of the young bandits are former inmates of the Ohio state reformatory, and that both were paroled—one of them on two occasions, although his record reveals "a continual series of jams with the law," and one brief detention in a mental hospital.

It is such cases, where mental illness is associated with crime, that Ohio seems lax in its methods, as the circumstances in this instance appear sufficient to warrant greater assurance of protection to the public than is possible when known recidivists are released from confinement and surveillance.

Hungary Sees Communism In Action

JOHN M'CORMAC, writing to the New York Times, describes the effects of communism on the life of the Hungarian people.

According to the communist pattern, which depends on military and police strength to make and hold gains, Hungary's army is large, her fire brigades are armed, and her police are three times as numerous as ever before. Small villages which have never had police now have large units, and an early evening curfew is imposed on the villagers.

Farmers whose only crime was the ownership of a small amount of land have been seized and imprisoned in concentration camps, says MacCormac. Hungary's dictator, Matyas Rakosi, is quoted as saying that the state is "an apparatus for suppression of the bourgeoisie."

In the courts, judge, jury, and prosecutor are embodied in one judge, who leads a people's court of four members. A defense attorney must plead in the interests of "the people" rather than those of his client. The right of workers to strike has been abolished, along with such benefits as Christmas bonuses.

The dense, fast-spreading miasma of communism strangles the freedom of any country that comes under its pall. Along with her political freedom, Hungary is losing her strongly individual flavor as a nation. Life there is called "flat, stale, and unprofitable."

Railroad to Alaska Talked About

"ALL ABOARD for Nome, Mt. McKinley and the Valley of 10,000 Smokes!" This call may resound from railroad stations if supporters of a railroad connection to Alaska have their way. A conference of senators, headed by Senator Warren J. Magnuson of Washington, seeks to pass a resolution directing the President to negotiate with Canada, through whose territory the proposed road would have to run.

Next would follow a survey, made in conjunction with Canada, and construction to be done in future years whenever the government appropriates necessary funds. The sum of $500,000,000 is estimated as required.

Statehood for Alaska, thought likely of passage by the present Congress, would rest on firmer foundation if there were some way of access to the proposed state without going by sea, or by the imperfectly equipped Alcan highway. A railroad may not come this year or in the next ten, but it is a probable development of a later generation.

Socialized Medicine In Action

SOCIALIZED MEDICINE in Australia has some medical men in a quandary. Patients whose doctors have prescribed rum or whisky for various ailments claim they are unable to afford these remedies. They demand that the spirits be furnished free, like other medicines.

Perhaps the question at issue is: How bad must the medicine taste to the patient before it can be had without charge?

The "cost of living" depends so largely on personal standards, what people do and where they live, that it's no wonder published statistics never agree with the trend of the family grocery bills.

What Some Other People Are Saying

JOHN DUGDALE, parliamentary secretary to the British admiralty: "Underwater battles of a future war are no dream. In future wars it may well be that the Atlantic may become like the Mediterranean with England taking the place of Malta."

* * *

SENATOR ARTHUR V. WATKINS (R-Utah): "We do not necessarily have to sign any pact in order to make it abundantly clear that we may fight if nations of our own kind are attacked and our security is in danger."

* * *

MAJOR ALEXANDER P. DE SEVERSKY, in opposing increased powers for the secretary of national defense: "The military destinies of America (will) be put into the keeping of a single individual vested with almost dictatorial power."

Washington Calling

Commies Follow Orders

By MARQUIS CHILDS

EACH TIME there is evidence of undue movement in the murky darkness of Soviet Russia, the outside world stirs in a flutter of speculation. The substitution of Vishinsky for Molotov once again has set off the tremors that vibrate out to the farthest corners.

To American officials who have made a study of Russian policy and Russian intentions over a considerable peroid of time most of the speculation seems futile if not downright foolish.

They believe that on the fundamental objective of the Soviets there has not been the slightest deviation through the years.

The latest proof of the unshaken singleness of purpose in the Kremlin is a remarkable document that is being studied and re-studied for its bearing on the present.

It is a long article in the Soviet magazine, "Bolshevik," by E. Burdzhalov, who bears the impressive title of "Chief, lecture group, propaganda and agitation division, all-union party central committee."

What makes the article especially significant is the evidence that Stalin takes a personal interest in every word that goes into "Bolshevik." Therefore, what Burdzhalov says has the imprimatur of the supreme dictator himself.

What the article declares, reduced to its simplest terms, is that the Communist parties of every country in the world must follow the exact pattern of Russia in moving toward revolution to overthrow the landowners and the bourgeoisie and then on to a dictatorship of the proletariat. Any deviation from this pattern of revolution is heresy or treason.

* * *

Supreme Authority.

THIS can be related directly to the recent statements of Thorez in France, Togliatti in Italy, the British communist leaders and William Z. Foster and Eugene Dennis in the United States.

One after the other, parrot-like, they stated that in the event of war with the Soviet Union they would be loyal to Russia rather than their own country. Thus each one cut himself off from any possibility of collaboration with other forces either in peace or war. Burdzhalov writes:

"The assertion that each country moves toward socialism in its own and completely original way and that there are as many routes toward socialism as there are countries cannot be accepted as correct. To speak in this way is to deny the international significance of the experience of bolshevism. The general laws for the transition from capitalism to socialism, which were first revealed by Marx and Engels and were verified, solidified and developed by Lenin and Stalin on the basis of Bolshevik party and the Soviet state, are mandatory for all countries."

What was handed down from on high to Marx now has been "solidified" into an absolutely iron code of conduct that the rest of the world must follow.

The author quotes Lenin with approval as having said "that the revolutionary class must first master all methods of combat without any exception whatsoever, and, second, must be ready for the most rapid and least expected substitution of one combat method for another."

He points with pride to "the extremely rich experience the Bolshevik party accumulated in alternating and combining legal and illegal and parliamentary and extraparliamentary forms of struggle."

That spells it out as unmistakably as anyone could ask. Those who become communists and who remain communists must inevitably submit to this extra-legal, extra-national discipline.

They must follow without looking either to the right or the left in the footsteps of the master — Stalin — who reserves the right to interpret the holy writ of Marx and Lenin.

Frankly Speaking

Truman and Education

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — President Truman says it's through education alone that western people can fight communism.

"We must have leaders inspired from their earliest years with the ideals of democracy," he said in a talk at Rollins college, Fla.

It would have helped if he had been a little more specific on how the inspiring is done or the form such education should take.

You can drill a boy in the ideals of democracy, or communism, and he will believe either without thinking if he's the kind that accepts slogans without examining them.

That's hardly sound training for future leadership in a democracy. As an example:

The Declaration of Independence has shining phrases about all men created equal and the inalienable right to liberty.

Since those words were written in 1776 generations of Americans have recited them lustily or had them dinned into their ears as a fact of American life.

But liberty was only an ideal, not a fact, for many for almost 100 years after the words were written. There were slaves here when they were written, and slaves here until the Civil war.

And even now, for a lot of Americans who shout about democracy, the idea that all men are created equal is not a fact at all.

But I wonder how many boys, past or present, busy memorizing the words, have thought of the difference between the ideal and the realities.

And I wonder how many teachers have been acute enough, or felt deeply enough about it, to point out the difference to them.

* * *

Must Know History.

MOUTHING the ideals, without facing the realities or understanding them, seems to me a feeble education in democracy.

As an ideal, of course, the Declaration was important, and still is. But equally important is this:

That as early as the year 1776 it could have been written at all. For, written so early, it shaped our history.

Behind the writing was the slow, developing idea that individual freedom is necessary for a good society.

Few schoolboys are taught any of that, but if they knew the history, they might appreciate more the value of liberty.

I wonder how many teachers, at least below the college level, know enough about it themselves to teach it. For that matter, I wonder how many schools, including colleges, put any emphasis at all on teaching the history of political philosophy.

It's in that rich field that American students can obtain a real foundation for understanding the importance of human freedom.

Unless you know the roots behind the slogan, it seems to me it would be easier to hire a phonograph to repeat the slogans.

Communists long ago discarded the idea of personal freedom for people. It would have interfered with the complete control they wanted to shape the kind of society they wanted.

Communism here probably would have been far less attractive for some of the Americans who joined it, if they had been grounded in the history of political ideas and the struggle for freedom.

It's been a long, tough struggle, and will continue to be. A would-be communist who doesn't understand and feel that, may turn to the party out of impatience with the American society as he sees it at this minute.

What Will Be Soviet Reaction To Pact?

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON. — The real truth about the Soviet cabinet shakeup is that no British or American observer really knows what's going on inside the Kremlin—and this includes our super-secret military intelligence men as well.

The iron curtain around the Kremlin is almost impenetrable, and all the speculation as to what the Molotov-Vishinsky shift means is nothing more than that—mere speculation.

There was a time when the United States was able to get reasonably accurate inside-Kremlin information from the Czechs and the Poles but since the Czech communist purge and the tightening up in Poland, those sources have dried up.

However, if past precedents are any criterion, the Russians will not take the North Atlantic Pact lying down. They are more than likely to move—and may move in the opposite direction.

That is behind feverish American plans to fortify Iran, also behind U. S. Ambassador John Wiley's frantic cables from Teheran. He seems convinced the Russians will move there next.

That is also why Iranian pilots have been trained with the U. S. Army in Germany, why 60 U. S. Thunderbolt fighter planes are being flown to Iran; why various U. S. transport planes are being turned over to Iran and why two shiploads of American war-surplus material have been sent to the country where Stalin, Roosevelt and Churchill once sat down to try to work out world peace.

Congressman Rebuked.

THE vice president of the United States isn't advertising it, but he once participated in a severe vote of censure of a congressman who used the same s. o. b. initials recently used by the President of the United States.

The vote of censure was taken against Rep. Thomas L. Blanton, Democrat of Texas. Passed unanimously by the House of Representatives when Alben Barkley was a member, the resolution stated:

"WHEREAS Thomas L. Blanton . . . inserted in the Congressional Record, a letter which was indecent, obscene, vulgar and vile;

"WHEREAS the said Thomas L. Blanton . . . has offered an indignity to the House and to the people represented by the membership of Congress . . . for which he deserves the severest rebuke and drastic censure, therefore be it

"RESOLVED that the Speaker of the House is hereby directed to summon him to the bar of the House and deliver to him its reprimand and censure."

The obscene matter which Blanton had inserted in the Record on Oct. 22, 1921, was a letter written by Millard French, an employe in the government printing office, addressed to George H. Carter, Public Printer. The letter contained the abbreviation s. o. b.

* * *

Abbreviation No Defense.

BLANTON was given one hour to defend himself and argued as his main defense that he had abbreviated the objectionable words.

"I caused all improper words to be abbreviated and veiled," Blanton told his colleagues. "Exactly in the same manner as is done on the official court records in Texas."

Blanton had previously been engaged in a debate with the A. F. of L. regarding employes in the government printing office and claimed the only way he could show the abuse used by certain employes was to print the Millard French letter with initials abbreviating the objectionable matter.

Blanton also claimed that his offense was not great, since he himself had not used the language, but merely inserted a letter containing it.

* * *

Escaped Expulsion.

NEVERTHELESS, Blanton escaped being expelled from Congress by only an eight-vote margin. A total of 293 Congressman voted to expel him.

Among those in Congress at the time were such close friends of President Truman as James F. Byrnes, later Truman's secretary of state; Tom Connally of Texas, now chairman of the Senate Foreign relations committee; Speaker Sam Rayburn, and Vice President Barkley.

All the above voted to expunge Blanton's s. o. b. abbreviation from the Record and none of the above opposed the resolution of censure, though they did not vote to expel.

The attack against Blanton was led by the late Rep. Frank Mondell of Wyoming and Nicholas Longworth, later Speaker of the House, also now deceased. Mondell, urging that Blanton be expelled, said: "Anyone uttering in public anywhere the words placed in the Congressional Record by the member from Texas should be subject to fine and imprisonment. While we cannot repeat the words which form the basis of this charge, it can be said that they are unspeakably foul, vile, filthy, profane, blasphemous, and obscene."

After the resolution of censure was voted, Blanton was called before the Speaker's rostrum, where Speaker Fred Gillett stated:

"I have been directed to censure you because, when you had been allowed by the courtesy of the House to print a speech, you inserted in it foul and obscene matter. . . And that disgusting matter was transmitted as part of the proceedings of the House to thousands of homes and libraries throughout the country to be read by men and women, and, worst of all, by children. In accordance with the instructions of the House and as its representative, I pronounce upon you its censure."

As Blanton left the floor of the House he collapsed in the corridor, struck his head on the marble floor and had to be assisted to his office.

Assignment: America

Texans Rebuke Clark

By INEZ ROBB

AUSTIN, Texas, — Harold L. Ickes, former secretary of the interior, does not have horns, a forked tail and cloven hooves, but angry citizens of Texas think otherwise.

Texans are pretty annoyed with the old curmudgeon.

They place the blame for the present federal attempt to gain title to the oil-rich tidelands of the Gulf of Mexico at Ickes' door.

"The fight originated when Mistah Ickes was secretary of the interior," said Bascom Giles, Texas commissioner of the general land office. "He was egged on by the military, but Mistah Ickes is the one responsible."

Giles, a big, handsome man, stands six feet six in his cowboy boots and his ten-gallon hat (six foot three in his sox), and looks every inch a Texan.

Next to "Mistah" Ickes, Giles feels strongly about another Texan — in fact, two Texans.

To think, says Giles sorrowfully, that Texas has been betrayed by one of her own sons, U. S. Attorney Gen. Tom Clark. Clark brought suit in the Supreme Court to determine if it has jurisdiction to hear the government's demand for title to the tidelands, worth a maharajah's ransom. That, for Texas, is the unkindest cut of all.

Giles put the ultimate denunciation on Clark when he referred to the Attorney General as "that former Texan." The land commissioner is willing to admit that, Clark is attorney general for the whole United States and not just Texas. But, he added:

"In this instance, he is carryin' his task above and beyond the call of duty, Ma'm."

* * *

Feeling Is General.

AND IF anyone thinks Giles is alone in this opinion, or that this belief is merely held by state officials and oil interests, stop any one-gallus Texan on any city street or crossroad and ask his opinion of Clark.

These fiercely individualistic people known as Texans believe the tidelands belong to Texas and that the entire matter is purely a states rights issue. That "Mistah" Clark, a Texas man, would prosecute the government case is astounding to them.

"But what would you have Clark do when the government orders him to bring such a suit?" I asked.

Giles said flatly:

"As a Texan and a gentleman, Mistah Clark could resign!"

The hostile eyes of Texas are upon Tom Clark, whom the state acclaimed with pride when he first went to Washington as attorney general.

There is another Texas "villain" in the case, too. The state feels it has been let down, also, by Harry Jordan, a former Texas oil man who went to California years ago and filed a number of leases on the California tidelands.

Texans are convinced that Jordan brought the matter before Ickes in incessant demands that he be given federal leases in the California oil-soaked tidelands, rather than state leases.

Jordan was so persistent that Ickes became interested in the matter, Texans are convinced, and finally instituted the first tidelands suit in California on which the coming Supreme Court hearing against Louisiana and Texas is predicated.

The old curmudgeon is the most bitterly hated in Texas, but it is over Tom Clark that Texans shake their heads.

They may be thinking of last year's naval engagement when 300 brokers' clerks with anchors tatooed on their chests defeated a crack division of vice-presidents.

* * *

But that was only a local engagement which ended when the vice-presidents laid down their minkskin brief case and signed the treaty of Westchester and Morristown.

* * *

It was not without its privations, however. . . . One vice-president missed four golf dates in a row and 14 clerks missed their ship sailings.

Anyway there is really no reason to believe that Comrade Foster ever would fight for Russia and spoil his magnificent two-war record of not fighting for anybody.

Farmer's Diary

From the Day's Mail

By CALVIN A. BYERS

ALMOST every mail brings a flock of letters from publicity folks seeking this columnist's comment. Since these people are good salesmen and excellent users of English, I find all their letters entertaining at least, and educational often:

Here is one about Eggs For England, from Overseas Associates, Inc. (New York and London). It seems you can ship Easter parcels containing choice foods and they will guarantee safe delivery to your friends abroad. A postcard is enclosed with each parcel and recipients are requested to report any damage. Little Kathryn Southey's mother reported two cracked eggs and one broken one—with eggs rationed to one a week, Kathryn's tears were about to brim over. The business reply was returned to the London office and the next shipment from America brought Kathryn a minimum sized box of a dozen eggs.

The "finest Easter gift" listed in this company's catalog is four parcels comprising $50 worth of staples and dainties; the least expensive package is $3.98 for 1 lb. tin pure lard; 12 oz. roast beef; 12 oz. tin luncheon meat; ½ lb. tea; 1 lb. raisins; 8 oz. tin tomato sauce, 1 lb. whole grain rice.

Special parcels for diets can be ordered for babies, diabetic persons or the aged. Standing orders can be given for regular shipments—you will be billed separately for each parcel.

"WHEN a government loses confidence in the capacity of its people to rule and to provide for themselves, and proceeds to coddle and pamper them and to shield them against the storms of life, the wealth-creating power of the people is undermined, personal initiative is smothered and incentives seriously impaired or destroyed. The end result is that the nation becomes impoverished while free enterprise and self-government are engulfed in some form of regimentation," says The First National Bank of Boston in its current New England Letter.

"Greater livestock production is the best answer to the threat of burdensome grain surpluses, and the best way for farmers to contribute to a better American diet. An expanded livestock program is consistent with goals of soil conservation and improved land use, better diets, less dependence on foreign markets for grain sales, security against food shortages in times of international disorders and food for an expanded population." — The Nation's Agriculture, published by American Farm Bureau.

AUSTRALIAN ARCHITECT SPEAKS TO FEDERATION

Miss Constance Paul Gives Lecture at Ohio Theater; Last of Series for Season.

"You and Your Home" was the topic of a lecture given to members of the Mansfield Federation of Women yesterday at the Ohio theater, by Miss Constance Paul, Australian architect and interior decorator.

Miss Paul told the audience that unless a home reflects the personality of its owners, interior decoration is a failure. She said that before she decorates a home she always likes to study her clients so that her decoration will suit them as much as possible.

"In these days," the speaker said, "we must combine utility with beauty. Our homes are shrinking more and more and a piece of furniture that is only beautiful and serves no purpose, no longer has a place in the home."

For doing over an old home, Miss Paul made some suggestions in planning. She said that the primary decision to make was how much money was available to spend.

"If this is not done," she stated, "you might find that after buying beautiful carpeting you haven't enough money left to buy the same quality of drapes and thus the whole effect of carpeting will be lost."

The second decision to make was how much space there is and what will be the central pivot of attention. After the finance and space problem is worked out, the decoration can proceed. Miss Paul said that lighting was extremely important to good decoration. She stated that too many women have spot lights all over their rooms.

"The best way to light a room," she continued, "is to place as many lights behind you as possible." She also advised side lights and diffused lighting.

Backgrounds, she said, were very important to tasteful decoration and simplicity is the best keynote for the walls, ceilings and floors. She advised plain walls with oriental carpets, saying that with so much pattern in the carpet the plain wall would set it off and not detract from it, as a flowered or patterned wall would. Take the dominating color from the carpet, she said, for your wall and drape color scheme. This will unify the room.

She also said that a woman looks most attractive in the home that is not surrounded with big patterned wall paper. Without a dominating feature on the walls, she will be the dominant pivot in the room.

If a room is too large, the decorator suggested painting the ceiling slightly darker than the walls. This brings the ceiling down and thus makes the room appear more intimate. Conversely, if the room is too small, paint the ceiling a lighter color than the wall thus "raising" the ceiling. A small room will also look larger, she continued, if the same color is carried out in the daverport, walls and floor.

Miss Paul related how she had designed some lovely homes out of some of London's old stables and coach houses. She cited this experience of hers, in illustrating her point that with ingenuity, almost any decorating problem can be solved.

Among the reproductions shown were, "George Washington," by Gilbert Stuart, which is in the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, "Blue Boy" by Gainsborough, which hangs in the Huntington Library in California, and "Adoration of the Magi" by Botticelli, which is in the Andrew Mellon art collection.

Mrs. Ward announced that the Toledo Museum will have a showing of 100 European paintings from the Berlin Art museum March 22 to 31. The proceeds of the exhibition will go to the relief of German children.

AUSTRALIAN ARCHITECT SPEAKS TO FEDERATION

Miss Constance Paul Gives Lecture at Ohio Theater; Last of Series for Season.

"You and Your Home" was the topic of a lecture given to members of the Mansfield Federation of Women yesterday at the Ohio theater, by Miss Constance Paul, Australian architect and interior decorator.

Miss Paul told the audience that unless a home reflects the personality of its owners, interior decoration is a failure. She said that before she decorates a home she always likes to study her clients so that her decoration will suit them as much as possible.

"In these days," the speaker said, "we must combine utility with beauty. Our homes are shrinking more and more and a piece of furniture that is only beautiful and serves no purpose, no longer has a place in the home."

For doing over an old home, Miss Paul made some suggestions in planning. She said that the primary decision to make was how much money was available to spend.

"If this is not done," she stated, "you might find that after buying beautiful carpeting you haven't enough money left to buy the same quality of drapes and thus the whole effect of carpeting will be lost."

The second decision to make was how much space there is and what will be the central pivot of attention. After the finance and space problem is worked out, the decoration can proceed. Miss Paul said that lighting was extremely important to good decoration. She stated that too many women have spot lights all over their rooms.

"The best way to light a room," she continued, "is to place as many lights behind you as possible." She also advised side lights and diffused lighting.

Backgrounds, she said, were very important to tasteful decoration and simplicity is the best keynote for the walls, ceilings and floors. She advised plain walls with oriental carpets, saying that with so much pattern in the carpet the plain wall would set it off and not detract from it, as a flowered or patterned wall would. Take the dominating color from the carpet, she said, for your wall and drape color scheme. This will unify the room.

She also said that a woman looks most attractive in the home that is not surrounded with big patterned wall paper. Without a dominating feature on the walls, she will be the dominant pivot in the room.

If a room is too large, the decorator suggested painting the ceiling slightly darker than the walls. This brings the ceiling down and thus makes the room appear more intimate. Conversely, if the room is too small, paint the ceiling a lighter color than the wall thus "raising" the ceiling. A small room will also look larger, she continued, if the same color is carried out in the daverport, walls and floor.

Miss Paul related how she had designed some lovely homes out of some of London's old stables and coach houses. She cited this experience of hers, in illustrating her point that with ingenuity, almost any decorating problem can be solved.

Horoscope

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE'

For Saturday, March 12

THE auguries combine to put to work, along unorthodox or conventional lines, all sorts of dreams, fancies and idealism, in which rare adventures, drives and pastimes may rise to thrilling heights of performance, although the fullest expression of such fancies, imagination and innovation should be rigidly held to practical and sound fondations. Overdoing, excesses, rash plunges overboard could spoil most promising and lucrative prospects. For highest culminations, hew to the line of practical idealism, steering clear of erratic or spectacular performance.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, should meet exceptional openings or lures in matter-of-fact performance, although the incitements may be based upon fresh, starting, novel or ingenious patterns. Keep daydreams and lofty aspirations on a sound and practical basis, even though ideals and hopes be tinged with adventure, romance and gay color. Work for solid issues, even while exploiting the bizarre or unique, for workaday climax. Grasp opportunity, adventure and thrills built on firm and enduring purpose. "Expect the unexpected."

A child born on this day, should be rarely gifted with exceptional talents, keeping to the main stem of reality even in the pursuit of high ideals and aspirations. Adventure, romance and honors are in store.

Report Given On Presentation Of Two Flags

The McLaughlin Women's Relief Corps met Wednesday evening in Memorial Hall with the president. Mrs. R. N. Waring, conducting the meeting.

It was reported that most of the donations for the national department and local corps have been collected and all were urged to have theirs' in by the next meeting.

Presentation of two flags was made by the president to the third and fourth grades of Roseland school. Presentation was made in the school auditorium.

Prize of the evening was awarded to Mrs. Charles M. Avery.

The next meeting will be held March 23. The sewing circle will meet at 4 p. m. A covered dish dinner will follow at 6 p. m. and the regular corps meeting will begin at 7:30 p. m. in Memorial Hall.

Work Start On Ashland Plant Near

Waterworks Building Program Approved

ASHLAND — Actual construction work on Ashland's $350,000 waterworks expansion program is expected to get under way as soon as bids can be let and materials obtained, Mayor Louis E. Mansfield announced today.

The mayor received written confirmation Thursday of the state department of health approval of the plan details for the expansion program. The program was prepared by Paul A. Uhlmann and Associates, Columbus engineering consultants. It is expected the construction will be well under way by the end of this year, the mayor said.

Four conditions were listed in the approval memo. They included requirement that the work be under supervision of competent engineers, that samples of filter sand or gravel used in filters be first submitted to the Ohio health department, that any changes in plans be approved by the state department and that the work must be substantially started prior to Jan 1, 1950 to meet with the present approval.

Plant Stops Production In Crestline

80 Workers Idled At Buckeye Electric

CRESTLINE — Production operations are to halt this afternoon at the local Buckeye Electric plant which earlier in the month was acquired by the Dominion Electric corporation of Mansfield. Between 75 and 80 Buckeye employes will be affected by the lay-off.

An official of the Mansfield concern reported a dozen employes will continue on the Crestline payroll. They will be maintenance men and shippers who will look after the building so it will be ready for use again if increased sales volume warrants its reopening the production line.

Small electrical appliances, stressing toasters, are produced at Buckeye.

There were more than 100 employes on the Buckeye payroll when the plant was purchased by Dominion. The change in ownership resulted in the loss of many workers. Only a few key men at Buckeye will be transferred to Dominion in Mansfield, the Dominion spokesman said.

PYTHIANS INVITED

CRESTLINE — Local Knights of Pythias members accepted an invitation to a card party in Bucyrus next Wednesday and planned one of their own for March 18 at this week's meeting. Larue members who attended invited locals to their St. Patrick day dance next Thursday.

One-Time Nazi 'Queen' Now Lives In Tumble-Down Shack

ETZELWANG, Germany — (UP) — Emmy Goering, who led a luxurious life as the wife of Germany's flamboyant No. 2 nazi, now lives in a tumbled-down shack by the old railroad track in this drab little village near the Czech border.

Ailing and poverty-stricken, luxury-loving Emmy spends most of her time in bed, cared for by her sister and little Edda, hers and Hermann's eight-year-old daughter.

They moved to Etzelwang so Edda could attend school. Before that they lived in a small but picturesque cottage deep in the woods of Bavaria.

While they lived in the country, Emmy and her sister taught the little girl and when she could afford it, a teacher from nearby Auerbach came out to tutor her. But as times got harder she found herself unable to afford a teacher, so they moved.

The little wooden lean-to, which they share with two other families, is in the yard beside the Bahnhof. It is similar to tumble-down shacks found in any town in the world in railroad yards.

Forsaken by friends of her former grandiose days, they live a drab existence. Emmy is bedridden most of the time. Little Edda goes to school and the sister takes care of the house. Her sister said they have sold just about everything they possess to get enough money to live.

Emmy was tried by a denazification court last summer in Garmisch-Partenkirchen and classified as a second-class offender. The court ruled that the two years she had spent in jail awaiting trial was sufficient punishment, but it confiscated most of their property and ordered her to pay a portion of the cost of the trial.

She is seeking an allowance from her blocked properties, but so far has not received it.

She is also trying to get back for little Edda the Goering family mansion at Velden. The mansion has been in the Goering family since the late 1800's and was not acquired through Goering's nazi connections. It now houses a group of Jewish refugees.

An average city dweller consumes 4.6 pounds of food and liquids, including water, each day.

Royall Raps Russian 'Duplicity'

Calls Berlin Blockade Threat to Peace

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Secretary of the Army Royall today accused Russia of duplicity and falsification. He called her blockade of Berlin a "day to day threat to the peace of the world."

Royall's discussion of foreign affairs, in plain-spoken, unvarnished words, was contained in his annual report on the status of the army department.

He reviewed what he called "Soviet intransgience," set down the record of attempts since 1945 to come to agreement with Russia, said that "from the beginning of the blockade and up to the present time the situation in Berlin has been tense." And he asserted:

"During all this period the effort has been made to stand firmly for American rights without being truculent. Often the decisions have been close ones where an error on either side was entirely possible. Fortunately, up to this time war has been avoided and America's position has been maintained.

AIM IS CONFUSION

"It has been apparent that the Soviet authorities have had no intention either of respecting past agreements or of composing the growing differences. On the contrary, it has been their manifest purpose to cause all possible confusion and conflict short of war, in an effort to drive us from Berlin and diminish American influence in Europe and in the world.

"The future of the Berlin situation — just as the future of other situations involving the Soviet union — is hard to prophesy. It is difficult to deal with threats and force and oppression to attain its desire.

"We cannot and will not surrender our rights nor our principles. We will continue to do everything decently possible to avoid war."

Royall disclosed an effort to build up the army's intelligence system:

"The purpose of these activities is to keep the armed forces and the United States informed of the intentions and capabilities of potentially hostile foreign countries," he said. "The army also gathered information concerning activities or conditions within the United States which might threaten internal security to the extent that troops would need to be employed to protect federal property.

"World conditions require that army intelligence activities be intensified in the coming year.

Gains Understanding of Tigers By Placing His Life In Danger

THERE is a man here who has spent most of his life trying to get inside the heads of wild tigers—to understand them better.

And at least a dozen tigers in the last 34 years have obliged him by trying to get him into their heads—a bite at a time.

"But they were not looking for better understanding," Capt. Roman Proske smiled wryly. "They were looking for nourishment."

At 50, Proske, who operates America's only tiger farm, is undoubtedly the most tiger-chewed man alive. There is something about him that brings out the beast in them. And his body today is a pitted patchwork of scars left by the yellow fangs and tremendous claws of the big cats he loves.

Proske breeds and raises tigers and lions at his north Miami zoo here. He sells them to zoos or trains them for circus acts. For two decades he has been internationally recognized in his field.

"It isn't exactly an overcrowded profession," he said. "There are probably no more than eight first-class wild animal trainers in the world."

The captain, a short, chunky kindly man, holds an honorary membership in the Association for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. It was granted him because he trains his tigers without guns, prods or other pain or fear-evoking devices. He uses only a light whip.

"It is not courage that counts in wild animal training," he said. "Those with courage alone simply don't survive.

"I can love tigers," he said, "but tigers can never become tame and love people. To them a man is only something to try to avoid—or something to try to eat."

"Their life is to catch and destroy. But in a cage they cannot do that. They are like a child that has been told 'No' a thousand times.

"So each in his brain says: 'I'll catch Proske.' After all, I am the only thing they can hunt. And they'll wait for the right chance. They'll wait for years. They have nothing to do but wait."

And what happens?

One day the trainer has a headache or an upset stomach, says Proske. He isn't up to par physically, and the big cats sense it instantly. If he glances away or turns his back—one pounces and grabs him.

"We do not have the power always to match this creation of God," said Proske simply. He has a religious respect for tigers.

Proske never destroys a tiger that mauls him. As soon as he recovers, he limps back into the cage—and shows the tiger who's boss again. It is a question whether this is more unnerving to Proske or the frustrated tiger.

"But how could I be mad at a tiger merely because he tried to eat me?" asked Proske. "After all I shouldn't be in a cage with tigers, and tigers don't belong in a cage either. We both have no business there."

A dozen tigers have sent the captain to the hospital. But only one ever embarrassed him in public. During an act in Havana a tiger made a swipe at him—and tore off his trousers.

"Luckily," said Proske, "I was wearing shorts."

Scout Leaders Get Awards at Dinner

By EILEEN DEWHURST

Nearly 100 persons braved the bad weather last night to attend the second annual Girl Scout dinner at St. John's church.

Rev. Matthew G. Madden, pastor of the First Congregational church, spoke on "Unenforceable Obligations."

He told the Girl Scout workers and their guests Girl Scout work is one of the best examples of such obligations. He added the finest citizens are those who know the meaning of obligations which are not forced on them.

Nine Girl Scout leaders received awards from Mrs. Joy A. Herbert, commissioner. A 10-year service pin was awarded to Mrs. George Kirtley. Five-year pins went to Mrs. Walter Andrews, Mrs. Robert Craft, Mrs. Harold George, Mrs. Walter Harris, Mrs. Philip Lodge, Mrs. Walter McEvoy, Mrs. R. C. Paulson, and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson.

Mrs. H. L. Ackerman, who had earned a 10-year pin, and Mrs. Peter Mayer, who had earned a five-year pin, were not able to attend the dinner.

A skit, "It's Magic," was presented by Girl Scouts and Brownies.

Dinner music was furnished by Mrs. Scott Brown, Mrs. Joseph W. Pival, Mrs. H. F. Plaut and Mrs. T. G. Zaugg.

The invocation was given by Rev. John C. Melchert, pastor of St. John's church, and Senior service Troop 24 was in charge of the presentation of colors.

Mrs. E. S. Fatkin was chairman of the annual dinner committee, and Mrs. William M. Layton, deputy commissioner, served as toastmistress.

FILLS PULPIT SUNDAY

GALION — Rev. Julian B. Lively of Augusta, Ga., will be supply pastor at First Baptist church Sunday. He and his wife and son, George, are visiting their daughter, Mrs. Jack R. Hughes of Hetrick drive. Rev. Lively will officiate for the Pace-Kellogg nuptials.

Lure of West Fades For 2 Runaways

"We want to go to California where it's warm," two shivering youngsters explained to state patrolmen yesterday at the Mansfield post.

The boys, 12 and 14, both from Massillon, got a ride in a bread truck near Mifflin. By the time they reached the patrol post they changed their minds and were ready to go back home.

Today, they were lodged in the women's quarters in county jail on juvenile court order. Massillon officials are expected to take them back to their homes.

Deputies said the runaways had no money with them and that their only baggage consisted of a pair of tennis shoes, a shirt and a sweater.

Up and Down the Street . . .

CHILLY ROBINS

While you were sitting around the fire warming your hands yesterday, two robins, normally fair-weather friends, were making the most of the storm.

Someone on Third avenue had shoveled the walk and put out crumbs for the birds. The two robust robins pecked at the crumbs, then would hop into the snow banks on the sides of the walk, hop out again, and shake themselves. They were observed playing in the snow for more than a half hour.

★

TIMES HAVE CHANGED—

You wouldn't think income tax filing deadline is only four days away. The tax office in the post office, which used to be jammed for days before the deadline, is virtually deserted. The reason, of course, is that the average taxpayer pays most of his tax to Uncle Sam through the withholding plan. So it's a simple matter to mail his withholding statement to the government with the short tax form and wait for results.

★

LITTLE BETTER—

If you're wading through the slush today and grumbling about the snow, here's something to consider: Last year at this time we were getting a six-inch snowfall and the mercury stood at 14 degrees.

Chatter . . .

An item in this column yesterday helping locate a man for a New York insurance firm Anthony A. Quimper, former Mansfielder sought by a New York insurance firm which has a paid-up policy for him, has been found in a manufacturing plant in Springfield, Mass.

Win In Columbia Contest

Junior Highs Share Awards

Mansfield's two junior high school papers captured second prizes at the 25th Annual Awards contest in New York, it was announced today.

The Madison High school "Hi-Spots" won third place among school papers of its size.

The school paper contest is sponsored by Columbia university.

The Simpson Times, published at John Simpson junior high, and the Johnny Appleseed Press, student publication of that school, won the second-place awards for papers published by schools in the 701 - to - 1,200 enrollment class.

The Mansfield school papers were selected from 1,000 entries from 46 states, Canada, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, Alaska, Egypt and Okinawa.

Mrs. Gladys Lane is editorial adviser to the staff at John Simpson and Miss Bernice Henry is adviser for the Appleseed Press staff.

No one from Mansfield schools attended the convention.

Last year the Simpson Times won second place and the Appleseed Press first place. This year, because of increased enrollment at Johnny Appleseed junior high, the two schools were competitors in the same classification.

Simpson has been entering the Columbia university contest since 1938 and Appleseed for the past nine years.

Awards are based on quality of writing, news coverage, make-up, printing, features, advertising and typography. Both papers carry complete sports sections and other newspaper sections in detail.

Addresses were given by Masonic Advisers Howard Schuck, Frank May, Homer Dent, and Master Councilor Carl E. Pfiefer.

Arrangements for the annual affair were directed by DeMolays Glenn Snyder and Jim Morris. The dinner was prepared by the women of the Grotto auxiliary.

Gains Understanding of Tigers By Placing His Life In Danger

THERE is a man here who has spent most of his life trying to get inside the heads of wild tigers—to understand them better.

And at least a dozen tigers in the last 34 years have obliged him by trying to get him into their heads—a bite at a time.

"But they were not looking for better understanding," Capt. Roman Proske smiled wryly. "They were looking for nourishment."

At 50, Proske, who operates America's only tiger farm, is undoubtedly the most tiger-chewed man alive. There is something about him that brings out the beast in them. And his body today is a pitted patchwork of scars left by the yellow fangs and tremendous claws of the big cats he loves.

Proske breeds and raises tigers and lions at his north Miami zoo here. He sells them to zoos or trains them for circus acts. For two decades he has been internationally recognized in his field.

"It isn't exactly an overcrowded profession," he said. "There are probably no more than eight first-class wild animal trainers in the world."

The captain, a short, chunky kindly man, holds an honorary membership in the Association for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. It was granted him because he trains his tigers without guns, prods or other pain or fear-evoking devices. He uses only a light whip.

"It is not courage that counts in wild animal training," he said. "Those with courage alone simply don't survive.

"I can love tigers," he said, "but tigers can never become tame and love people. To them a man is only something to try to avoid—or something to try to eat.

"Their life is to catch and destroy. But in a cage they cannot do that. They are like a child that has been told 'No' a thousand times.

"So each in his brain says: 'I'll catch Proske.' After all, I am the only thing they can hunt. And they'll wait for the right chance. They'll wait for years. They have nothing to do but wait."

And what happens?

One day the trainer has a headache or an upset stomach, says Proske. He isn't up to par physically, and the big cats sense it instantly. If he glances away or turns his back—one pounces and grabs him.

"We do not have the power always to match this creation of God," said Proske simply. He has a religious respect for tigers.

Proske never destroys a tiger that mauls him. As soon as he recovers, he limps back into the cage—and shows the tiger who's boss again. It is a question whether this is more unnerving to Proske or the frustrated tiger.

"But how could I be mad at a tiger merely because he tried to eat me?" asked Proske. "After all I shouldn't be in a cage with tigers, and tigers don't belong in a cage either. We both have no business there."

A dozen tigers have sent the captain to the hospital. But only one ever embarrassed him in public. During an act in Havana a tiger made a swipe at him—and tore off his trousers.

"Luckily," said Proske, "I was wearing shorts."

While you were sitting around the fire warming your hands yesterday, two robins, normally fair-weather friends, were making the most of the storm.

Someone on Third avenue had shoveled the walk and put out crumbs for the birds. The two robust robins pecked at the crumbs, then would hop into the snow banks on the sides of the walk, hop out again, and shake themselves. They were observed playing in the snow for more than a half hour.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED—

You wouldn't think income tax filing deadline is only four days away. The tax office in the post office, which used to be jammed for days before the deadline, is virtually deserted. The reason, of course, is that the average taxpayer pays most of his tax to Uncle Sam through the withholding plan. So it's a simple matter to mail his withholding statement to the government with the short tax form and wait for results.

Mansfield High Battles Fostoria Tonight

Falcons May Be Top Team

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK — (INS) — Bowling Green State, which got a place in the national invitational basketball tournament, may wind up as the team to beat for the title.

The Falcons from down Ohio way have been flying high in recent competition after a slow start this season, and are fired up because they were slighted when the original invitations to the tournament were made.

They finally scraped through when the field was increased to a dozen—from an original eight.

SIZZLING STREAK

The Falcons ended their season with a sizzling 13-game winning streak, for a total of 22 wins and six defeats.

During their campaign they defeated such nationally outstanding teams as Western Kentucky, Duquesne, Villanova, La-Salle and Loyola of Chicago.

They also set a Madison Square Garden scoring record with 97 points against Long Island University this year, and finished up with a 68.9 scoring average.

Their last defeat came on Jan. 11, to Kentucky's famed Wildcats, 63 to 61.

Adding it all up, Coach Harold Anderson generally regards this team as perhaps the best ever to play under his guidance.

MUST PLAY FOUR

Bowling Green will be among the teams in the tournament which must play four games if they reach the finals. The others play only three games, but the added handicap of an extra game is not regarded by observing coaches as too much of a hurdle for the Anderson outfit.

Chuck Share, the 6 foot, 11 inch center of the Falcons, is their main wheel. His scoring average for the season was 16.5, as he hit a .476 percentage with his shots.

Other top hands through the campaign included Mac Otten, Stanley Weber, Bob Long and Emerson Speicher.

Bowling Green's first start will be against St. John's, with a record of 15-8, on Saturday night.

The Ohio team is almost a cinch in this one, and the real stumbling blocks will begin to come up next week.

Other games Saturday and Saturday night will be:

San Francisco vs. Manhattan, Bradley vs. NYU, and Loyola vs. College of the city of New York.

Other teams in the tournament are Kentucky, Western Kentucky, Utah and St. Louis. The latter four were seeded and thus will play only three games.

Aside from the fact that Bowling Green figures to be tough, the four New York teams in the competition should be easy.

No New York team really qualified, but one always is placed in the tournament and a squabble was settled by putting in the four mediocrities to make up for the absence of a single strong team.

West Fifth 5 Only Winner

West Fifth annexed the Northern division title of the city grade school basketball league as it defeated Bushnell, 14-9, in the final game of the season yesterday at John Simpson.

The victory completed West Fifth's season with a 7-1 record and made it co-favorites along with southern half champ Brinkerhoff in next week's city tournament. Bushnell won the reserve game, 17-2.

All other games scheduled yesterday were postponed.

Stiff Test In Store For Tyger Team

By CHARLEY STINE

Mansfield Senior high school will face its first really stiff test of the tournament trail tonight when it meets powerful Fostoria at 7:30 p. m. in the Sandusky high school gym.

Coach Vern Hoffman's Tygers waltzed through three sectional touranment games here last week but have little to go on regarding their comparative strength with Fostoria. Records of the teams are about even but games involving schools of the two areas have been too few to produce anything tangible.

"We'll wait until we win to see how good we are," was Hoffman's comment as the team packed bags in preparation for leaving on a special bus at 4:30 this afternoon.

Regardless of the outcome, the team will return home tonight. If they win they will take the bus back to Sandusky tomorrow to meet the winner of tonight's 8:45 game between Bellevue and Toledo Whitmer.

SOME 960 TICKETS

Should the Tygers get to the finals, some 960 tickets to tomorrow night's game will go on sale at 9 a. m. in the morning at room 107, Senior high school. Tickets for tonight's game have been sold out since Tuesday.

The Sandusky district champ advances to the Toledo regional next week along with the winner from Findlay, Toledo, and the central district at Columbus. Then, the following week-end comes the state joust at the Columbus Coliseum with regional champs from Toledo, Kent, Cincinnati, and Youngstown.

All this will be meaningless as far as Mansfield is concerned, however, unless it can start off on the right foot tonight.

One thing is certain about tonight's game. It is one of those unpredictable affairs which can burst out at any time into a lopsided fray. Both Senior high and Fostoria are off-and-on clubs and an "off" night for either will mean certain defeat.

Mansfield has won 16 games and lost 7 while Fostoria has a 14-7 record.

ANDERSON TOPS

Jimmy Anderson has a 59-point bulge in the Tyger scoring figures. The slender junior has connected on 121 field goals and 68 free throws for a total of 310 points. Norb Shibinski is second with 251.

Ed Demyan leads the foul shooters with 44 of 68 for 64.7 percent while Ken McCally has 32 of 52 for 61.5. Paul Ferguson has 57.5.

Tiger Pitcher Cracks Skull

LAKELAND, FLA. —(UP)— Art "hard-luck" Houtteman, 21-year-old Detroit tiger baseball pitcher, lay in critical condition in Lakeland hospital today from a fractured skull received when his automobile collided with a truck at a downtown intersection.

The six-foot, one-inch Houtteman gained the "hard-luck" nickname last season when, considered one of the club's most promising pitchers, he lost 16 out of 18 games by close margins on errors and other flukes beyond his control.

GET THAT BALL—Two West Fifth basketball players and one from Bushnell go after a ball which seems to be suspended in mid-air in a game at John Simpson yesterday. The West Fifth player, at the right, however, was too much intrigued with the camera and decided to watch it instead of the ball. West Fifth won the game, 14-9, to take the Northern division city championship.—(News-Journal staff photo)

Dissension Flares In Two Baseball Training Camps

(By International News Service)

Dissension, actual or threatened, was a specter to two major league baseball clubs today.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, whose belated pennant bid last year failed because early season bickerings and uncertainty had catapulted them into the cellar at mid-season, had new and unexpected trouble on their hands.

Jackie Robinson, star Negro infielder of the Dodgers, and Hugh Van Cuyk, rookie pitcher up from Ft. Worth, were riding each other all through yesterday's practice game at Vero Beach, Fla., and fisticuffs between the pair were narrowly averted.

BARNEY POUNDED

On top of that, Rex Barney, Brooklyn's fireballace, was pounded for nine runs in three innings, causing additional alarm.

Threatened dissension on the New York Yankees, whose brilliant utility infielder and pinch hitter de luxe, Bobby Brown, has threatened to quit baseball unless he plays as a regular, may be averted because New York's regular shortstop, Scooter Rizzuto, has a lame arm.

Yankees . . .

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., —(AP) —The New York Yankees open their exhibition schedule against the St Louis Cardinals tomorrow and manager Casey Stengel already is looking over his injured list.

He said after yesterday's session that Joe Dimaggio may not appear at all and that if he does, it will be as a pinch hitter. Charley Keller, another of his outfield stars, may play a few innings late in the game, he indicated.

Tommy Henrick, the third member of the regular picket squad, is ready for action.

★

Phillies . . .

CLEARWATER, Fla., — (AP) — Dick Sisler, Philadelphia Phillies first baseman, has been acting like a new man at the plate since his tonsils were removed.

In an intra squad game yesterday, Dick banged out two hits including a homer, as Benny Bengough's boys were defeated by Dusty Cooke's comets, 7-4

Tigers . . .

LAKELAND, Fla., — (AP) — Aaron Robinson's hopes of making the Detroit Tigers' right field stands a target this summer seem to have some promise. The big catcher belted one so far out in right in a squad game yesterday that the boys immediately started making comparisons.

★

Reds . . .

TAMPA, Fla., — (AP) — A pair of rookies who have been going great guns in the Cininnati Reds' intrasquad games will get a taste of real competition tomorrow.

The Reds tangle with the Boston Red Sox at Sarasota in the first exhibition game of the spring training, and manager Bucky Walters said his starting lineup would include second sakker Johnny Lane and center fielder Lloyd Merriman.

Tribe Opens 38-Contest Drill Sked

TUCSON, Ariz. — (INS) — Gene Bearden, the Cleveland Indians' ace sophomore hurler, will start on the mound in the Tribe's first exhibition game against the New York Giants tomorrow at Tucson.

Manager Lou Boudreau said that Coach Bill McKechnie, in charge of pitchers, has selected Bearden to hurl the first four or five innings against the Giants, opening the first of 38 contests in the cactus league. His opponent likely will be Larry Jansen.

MAKE FIRST START

Bob Feller and Frank Papish made their first starts of the 1949 spring training season yesterday and led their team, Harder's Pals, to a 2-1 victory ocer Susce's Pets.

The fireballer, who pitched four scoreless innings, limited his opposition to two hits, walked two and struck out one. Papish, left-hander obtained from the Chicago White Sox, finished the game, allowing three hits and one run.

The Pets, however, were only given four hits by Pitchers Early Wynn and rookie George Anderman, a 20-year-old southpaw.

Wynn, who came to the Indians in a trade with Washington, looked exceptionally fast, giving the Pals two hits in the four frames he twirled. One of them, however, was a home run by Third Baseman Ken Keltner, who connected for the Tribe's first round-tripper of the spring season.

PLENTY OF SPEED

Anderman showed that he has plenty of speed by fanning four of the Pals in the five innings he pitched. He gave up two hits and walked two.

Both the hits given up by the rookie were made by Roberto Avila, the Mexican second baseman. He was the only man on either team to collect two hits, one of which accounted for the winning run in the ninth.

First Is Baseball

CHICAGO — (UP) — Michigan state probably will become a participating member of the western conference at the annual May meeting, it appeared today, but the Spartans will not be able to have a league schedule in a team sport until the baseball campaign of 1950 at the earliest.

Eight Keglers Chop Wood to '600' Tune

Ice was prevalent yesterday and Mansfield bowlers were pretty slick themselves, turning in eight honor roll scores in five leagues.

Bill "Doc" Daugherty set the pace in the Tappan Stove league with a rousing 637 on games of 223, 181 and 233. J. Harrod of the same league chopped wood to the tune of 201-175-234—610.

The two leaders spreadeagled the field as Sel Michalski was third with 176-213-156—545. Others: J. Kleer, 542; V. Shaffer, 532; C. Donnan, 527, and J. Mabee, 526. P. Schmunk topped the oddity list with 119-200-139—458.

★

Six of the "600" blasts were fashioned in the tough Commercial B league. Bart Haley, No. 3 man on the Zitzer's Maytag crew, was tops with 199-200-219—618 while Dean Hahn, Yuncker's, trailed with 180-237-195—612.

Colony boss Art Hilborn, rolling with Yuncker's, was third with 232-192-186—610. The other top men were: Joe DeYarman, Rose Bowl, 167-195-245 — 607, George Gump, Oak Park Tavern, 210-200-192—602 and Jim Brown, Ringside, 212-204-185—601.

Also in the top strata were: Earl Robertson, Oak Park, 223 and a 598; C. Heilman, Schroer's, 589, and J. Harrod, Ingram-Martin, 225 and a 574. Earl Korn, Mansfield Rug, chipped in with a 234, Farrell Hipp, Yuncker's, had a 231; John Waldman, Lions club, 231; and Bob Hilborn, Yuncker's, 224.

Ed Henrich, the Schroer's anchor man, led off with games of 208 and 204 but tapered to 160 and 572.

Rose Bowl had a whopping single game of 1003 while Yuncker's remained in first with a two of three game win over Zitzer's while second-place Dearman's had the same bulge over Fancee Brands Foods.

Rose Bowl took three from Mansfield Rugs for the only sweep.

★

Lead in the Amvets Auxiliary bowling league went to Dorothy Kepler, Drive-in-Ette, with 168-139-132—439 while Pollyanna Boone of the same team had 132-147-135—414. Margie Mackto, Hughes Hardware, had a 393 and Margie Fox, Brandenburg Chevrolet, 386.

Drive - in - Ette took three straight from Hughes and topped the teams with 1815 at the Richland lanes.

★

Ohio Sport Center rolled on in the Women's Commercial A league as it boasted the top team and individual single game and series in both team and individuals divisions, three women over 500 and a sweep from Lemley's Cleaners.

Sport Center had an 864 game and a 2494 series while Sue Humphrey put together 179-186-20—566 for top series of the night. Dot McDevitt was runnerup and held single game honors with 175-214-161—550.

Ann Sauer completed the Sport Center domination with a 539 series and a 202 single game.

Others over the 500 mark were Kate Herf, Mansfield Beverage, 547; Flo Handwork, City News, 539; Helen Civay, Mansfield Beverage, 520; Evelyn Marshman, Lemley's Cleaners, 513; Thelma Cox, Mansfield Frosted Foods, 509; Evelyn Hockenberry, PD's Bar 508.

Mitsch's Knocks Hardwares Out of 'Medal' Meet

Urschel and Shelby Advance to Semis

Urschel Insurance, Frankie Mitsch's Corner Store and Shelby Gump's joined Penn Auto-Sporting Goods in the semi-final bracket of the Gold Medal basketball tournament last night as they won quarter-final games.

These four clubs will battle it out tonight on the John Simpson floor for the right to play in Monday's final game. The two City A league clubs, Penn and Urschel's, tangle at 7, while Mitsch's and Shelby go at it an hour later.

Mitsch's, the Class B team which swept through the American league race undefeated, stopped Ed Chatlain and his Martin Hardware mates last night, 50-35, to get their berth. Chatlain scored only 12 points but ran his tournament count to 77 for three games, which is far and away the best of the meet.

Mitsch's trailed at the quarter, 9-7, but took command at the half, 22-17, and were never headed.

KOMITO'S OUT

Another City A team fell by the wayside as Shelby Gump's walloped Komito's Clothes, 62-48. Gump's led all the way as big Ed Vanderbile and Lucas dumped in 16 points each.

Scoring honors for the night went to Nick Gagich as he led Urschel's in a second half comeback which ousted Richland Beverage, 58-45. Gagich poured 18 points through the hoop to help the Insurancemen overcome a 23-19 Richland half-time lead.

26 IN THIRD

Urschel's jumped to the front with a 26-point third period and Richland was never in the ball game thereafter.

Finals of the tournament will be played next Monday at Johnny Appleseed. Over a hundred medals and trophies are to be presented at the final session.

All-Ohio Fives Of Colleges Named By INS

Size, speed, scoring ability and general all-round class — they're all in the 1948-49 eidition of the all-Ohio basketball squad announced today by International News Service.

From giant Charley Share to little Chuch Buttermore, the top 10 Ohio college cagers of the year, as chosen by the state's coaches themselves, rank with the best performers in the country.

Seldom have 10 men been so outstanding in their field.

Five of the group — Share of Bowling Green, Buttermore of Ohio Wesleyan, Leroy Thompson of Kent State, Paul Schnackenberg of Miami, and im Cochrane of Western Reserve — were virtual unanimous selections of the coaches against whose teams they performed.

And almost equally brilliant were Jud Millhon, the state's leading scorer from Ohio Wesleyan; Eppa Rixey, Kenyon's three-time all-Ohio; Mac Otten, Share's running mate at Bowling Green; Earl Shaw, Wooster's top star, and Ralph Richter, the Cincinnati flash.

Five centers were named to the squad by the coaches, but Share and Thompson were named most frequently to the pivot post. Both are juniors, with one more year of eligibility apiece remaining.

The six-foot, 11-inch Share, who received all-America mention last year, once again paced the Beegees this season with a 16-plus average for 27 games. Thompson, Kent's leading scorer, and Share both are repeaters from last year's honor squad.

Bucyrus Semis Listed Tonight

BUCYRUS — Semi-finals in the class B district tournament will be played here tonight with Sandusky St. Mary's meeting Sycamore of Wyandot county and undefeated Salem township, also of Wyandot county, playing Attica of Seneca county.

St. Mary's, with a season record of 15 wins and three losses, is favored over Sycamore, which has won 16 and lost 10. Salem, which will be seeking its 26th straight win, is given the edge over Attica with a record of 20 wins out of 23 games.

The championship game will be played at 8 p. m. Saturday and the winner will participate in the regional tournament beginning next Thursday in Toledo.

Tall Toothpick Battles Belloise

NEW YORK — (UP) — J. T. Ross, an elongated stick of dynamite from San Jose, Calif., will try to prove tonight in his Madison Square Garden debut that he is not only the world's tallest middleweight but also a socker deserving of a title shot.

However, the "terrific toothpick" from the golden west had a tough assignment. He was pitted against Steve Belloise, the explosive Bronx veteran who is rated No. 2 among 160-pound contenders.

Ohioans Are Elected To Pin Group Posts

Eaton, 1948 Class B Cage Champ, Is Out of Running

By FRITZ HOWELL, Ohio AP Sports Editor

COLUMBUS—The race for Ohio's Class B high school basketball title was wide open today.

Eaton's Golden Eagles, 1948 victors, were ushered to the sidelines last night in the Xenia district meet, bowing 36-40 to Phillipsburg's Thunderbolts, champions of Montgomery county.

It was Phillipsburg's 21st win in 24 starts, and the sixth loss in 20 games for the deposed rulers of the state's 930 Class B schools.

The Golden Eagles were not the only highly-rated team to bow in the "lose and out" classic. Walnut Creek, the Amish Cinderella club from Holmes county where 12 of the school's 14 boys are on the team, hit the end of the victory trail at the hands of Scio, 57 to 55. The game was played Wednesday night and Bob Hugh's field goal in the last three seconds halted Walnut Creek's string at 25 in a row.

BAKER GETS 35

Olive Branch also dropped out in the district finals at Springfield, losing its second in 24 as Hollansburg of Darke county, paced by Center Jack Baker's 35 points, rolled to a surprising 65-52 verdict.

Beaver, beaten only once in 22 games, was upset 58-44 by an underdog Minford team at Waverly, the victors boosting their record to 16-11.

Action was limited in Class A, but breaks out everywhere tonight with a host of top-flight contests. Defending champion Findlay goes up against a red-hot Bucyrus club at Findlay, each having been beaten twice.

Another notable clash, at Dayton, brings together Dayton Stivers (14-4) and Middletown (17-3) in a scrap of ex-champs. Stivers has taken the state crown nine times and Middletown three.

Lancaster, with two one-point defeats on its 23-game record, powered its way to a 68-52 win over Athens (17-4) at Athens last night, and will meet Portsmouth (17-4) in Saturday's finals for a berth in the Cincinnati regional. Portsmouth is the only team holding a decision over powerful Hamilton Public, which has a regional berth at Cincy clinched with a 21-1 record.

PORTSMOUTH WINS

Portsmouth hit the district finals with a 64-59 win over Hillsboro (18-4), but the decision may have been a costly one. In the final four seconds Guard Bert Barney of the Trojans fell on his back and head and was taken to the hospital for X-rays.

Of last year's four Class A finalists, only North Canton is still in the running, but three of the four in Class A—Findlay, Coshocton and Canton South—still have a chance. All see action tonight.

5 Games Open Junior Court Joust at F-H

Entries in the Friendly House Junior basketball tournament were cut to 13 yesterday as five games helped get the meet under way.

Advancing to second round play were the Bulldogs, Highlanders, Herm's Boys, Main Sandwich, and East Mansfield. The Highlanders eliminated the Blue Devils, 36-30, Herm's Boys beat South Boulevards, 30-22, Rex Juniors fell to Main Sandwich, 24-21, East Mansfield trimmed First Lutheran 29-23, and the Bulldogs outlasted Baptist church, 36-30.

FOUR TONIGHT

Four more games will be played tonight D and M Cigar Store meets North Side Juniors at 4 p. m., the Junior Optimists face Grace Gospel at 6:30, Collins Grocery vies with Sutters at 7:15, and Frank's Grocery battles the Catholic Foresters at 8.

Middlebrook of Herm's Boys and Bill Lanning of the Highlanders shared scoring honors with 17 points each last night.

Grimm Turns Writer, Calls Cubs First Division Threat

By CHARLIE GRIMM, Manager of the Chicago Cubs

(Written exclusively for International News Service)

LOS ANGELES—We hope to be much better in 1949, when, as I view it, Brooklyn, Boston and St. Louis will be the main contenders for the pennant.

As soon as last season ended, we began to plug the holes that had caused us to finish in last place for only the second time in history.

We acquired Frankie Gustine, an experienced and capable third baseman, from Pittsburgh, giving up Catcher Clyde McCullough, who didn't figure in our plans.

PITCHING UP

When we were lucky enough to get Dutch Leonard, knuckle ball artist, and Walt Dubiel, who has a great sinker, from the Phillies, we made ourselves definitely a first division contender. We gave the Phils Eddie Waitkus and Hank Borowy.

Waitkus is a fine first baseman and we hated to part with him, but Phil Cavaretta is still one of the best first sackers in my book.

To add a little speed and punch to the outfield, we also added Harry Walker, who won the league batting championship two years ago.

Our promising young pitchers, who lost a lot of games while gaining experience last year, should be a lot better. A man who might help us until fellows like Bob McCall, McLish and Bob Rush come into their own, is Mort Cooper, the former Cardinal great. Mort is in great shape and appears to have the desire to pitch winning ball again

Of course, the most important thing about the Gustine deal is that last year we had the national league's best center fielder playing third base. Andy Pafko did a great job at a position he had never played before, but he belongs in the outfield.

LISTS LINEUP

Going down our lineup, here are the cubs probable front-liners:

Catchers — Bob Scheffing and young Al Walker.

Pitchers — The great left-hander, Johnny Schmitz, of course, and Leonard, Dubiel, McCall, Rush, Cooper and Doyle Lade for other starting assignments. For relief, we have two dependables, Emil Kush and Jess Dobernic. Dwain Sloat, drafted from St. Paul, also figures.

Infield — Cavaretta and Gustine with Emil Verban at second and Roy Smalley at short.

Outfield — Pafko, Walker and Hal Jeffcoat are experienced major leaguers. Cliff Aberson hit .329 for Los Angeles last year with 34 home runs, and Carmen Mauro is up from Nashville after a fine year.

Mansfield High Battles Fostoria Tonight

Falcons May Be Top Team

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK — (INS) — Bowling Green State, which got a place in the national invitational basketball tournament, may wind up as the team to beat for the title.

The Falcons from down Ohio way have been flying high in recent competition after a slow start this season, and are fired up because they were slighted when the original invitations to the tournament were made.

They finally scraped through when the field was increased to a dozen—from an original eight.

SIZZLING STREAK

The Falcons ended their season with a sizzling 13-game winning streak, for a total of 22 wins and six defeats.

During their campaign they defeated such nationally outstanding teams as Western Kentucky, Duquesne, Villanova, LaSalle and Loyola of Chicago.

They also set a Madison Square Garden scoring record with 97 points against Long Island University this year, and finished up with a 68.9 scoring average.

Their last defeat came on Jan. 11, to Kentucky's famed Wildcats, 63 to 61.

Adding it all up, Coach Harold Anderson generally regards this team as perhaps the best ever to play under his guidance.

MUST PLAY FOUR

Bowling Green will be among the teams in the tournament which must play four games if they reach the finals. The others play only three games, but the added handicap of an extra game is not regarded by observing coaches as too much of a hurdle for the Anderson outfit.

Chuck Share, the 6 foot, 11 inch center of the Falcons, is their main wheel. His scoring average for the season was 16.5, as he hit a .476 percentage with his shots.

Other top hands through the campaign included Mac Otten, Stanley Weber, Bob Long and Emerson Speicher.

Bowling Green's first start will be against St. John's, with a record of 15-8, on Saturday night.

The Ohio team is almost a cinch in this one, and the real stumbling blocks will begin to come up next week.

Other games Saturday and Saturday night will be:

San Francisco vs. Manhattan, Bradley vs. NYU, and Loyola vs. College of the city of New York.

Other teams in the tournament are Kentucky, Western Kentucky, Utah and St. Louis. The latter four were seeded and thus will play only three games.

Aside from the fact that Bowling Green figures to be tough, the four New York teams in the competition should be easy.

No New York team really qualified, but one always is placed in the tournament and a squabble was settled by putting in the four mediocrities to make up for the absence of a single strong team.

West Fifth 5 Only Winner

West Fifth annexed the Northern division title of the city grade school basketball league as it defeated Bushnell, 14-9, in the final game of the season yesterday at John Simpson.

The victory completed West Fifth's season with a 7-1 record and made it co-favorites along with southern half champ Brinkerhoff in next week's city tournament. Bushnell won the reserve game, 17-2.

All other games scheduled yesterday were postponed.

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Otto Graham, star quarterback for the Cleveland Browns all America conference champion football squad, tossed his mates another victory today.

Stiff Test In Store For Tyger Team

By CHARLEY STINE

Mansfield Senior high school will face its first really stiff test of the tournament trail tonight when it meets powerful Fostoria at 7:30 p. m. in the Sandusky high school gym.

Coach Vern Hoffman's Tygers waltzed through three sectional touranment games here last week but have little to go on regarding their comparative strength with Fostoria. Records of the teams are about even but games involving schools of the two areas have been too few to produce anything tangible.

"We'll wait until we win to see how good we are," was Hoffman's comment as the team packed bags in preparation for leaving on a special bus at 4:30 this afternoon.

Regardless of the outcome, the team will return home tonight. If they win they will take the bus back to Sandusky tomorrow to meet the winner of tonight's 8:45 game between Bellevue and Toledo Whitmer.

SOME 960 TICKETS

Should the Tygers get to the finals, some 960 tickets to tomorrow night's game will go on sale at 9 a. m. in the morning at room 107, Senior high school. Tickets for tonight's game have been sold out since Tuesday.

The Sandusky district champ advances to the Toledo regional next week along with the winner from Findlay, Toledo, and the central district at Columbus. Then, the following week-end comes the state joust at the Columbus Coliseum with regional champs from Toledo, Kent, Cincinnati, and Youngstown.

All this will be meaningless as far as Mansfield is concerned, however, unless it can start off on the right foot tonight.

One thing is certain about tonight's game. It is one of those unpredictable affairs which can burst out at any time into a lopsided fray. Both Senior high and Fostoria are off-and-on clubs and an "off" night for either will mean certain defeat.

Mansfield has won 16 games and lost 7 while Fostoria has a 14-7 record.

ANDERSON TOPS

Jimmy Anderson has a 59-point bulge in the Tyger scoring figures. The slender junior has connected on 121 field goals and 68 free throws for a total of 310 points. Norb Shubinski is second with 251.

Ed Demyan leads the foul shooters with 44 of 68 for 64.7 percent while Ken McCally has 32 of 52 for 61.5. Paul Ferguson has 57.5.

Tiger Pitcher Cracks Skull

LAKELAND, FLA. —(UP)— Art "hard-luck" Houtteman, 21-year-old Detroit tiger baseball pitcher, lay in critical condition in Lakeland hospital today from a fractured skull received when his automobile collided with a truck at a downtown intersection.

The six-foot, one-inch Houtteman gained the "hard-luck" nickname last season when, considered one of the club's most promising pitchers, he lost 16 out of 18 games by close margins on errors and other flukes beyond his control.

Dissension Flares In Two Baseball Training Camps

(By International News Service)

Dissension, actual or threatened, was a specter to two major league baseball clubs today.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, whose belated pennant bid last year failed because early season bickerings and uncertainty had catapulted them into the cellar at mid-season, had new and unexpected trouble on their hands.

Jackie Robinson, star Negro infielder of the Dodgers, and Hugh Van Cuyk, rookie pitcher up from Ft. Worth, were riding each other all through yesterday's practice game at Vero Beach, Fla., and fisticuffs between the pair were narrowly averted.

BARNEY POUNDED

On top of that, Rex Barney, Brooklyn's fireballace, was pounded for nine runs in three innings, causing additional alarm.

Threatened dissension on the New York Yankees, whose brilliant utility infielder and pinch hitter de luxe, Bobby Brown, has threatened to quit baseball unless he plays as a regular, may be averted because New York's regular shortstop, Scooter Rizzuto, has a lame arm.

★

Yankees . . .

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., —(AP) —The New York Yankees open their exhibition schedule against the St. Louis Cardinals tomorrow and manager Casey Stengel already is looking over his injured list.

He said after yesterday's session that Joe Dimaggio may not appear at all and that if he does, it will be as a pinch hitter. Charley Keller, another of his outfield stars, may play a few innings late in the game, he indicated.

Tommy Henrick, the third member of the regular picket squad, is ready for action.

★

Phillies . . .

CLEARWATER, Fla., — (AP) — Dick Sisler, Philadelphia Phillies first baseman, has been acting like a new man at the plate since his tonsils were removed.

In an intra squad game yesterday, Dick banged out two hits, including a homer, as Benny Bengough's boys were defeated by Dusty Cooke's comets, 7-4.

Tigers . . .

LAKELAND, Fla., — (AP) — Aaron Robinson's hopes of making the Detroit Tigers' right field stands a target this summer seem to have some promise. The big catcher belted one so far out in right in a squad game yesterday that the boys immediately started making comparisons.

★

Reds . . .

TAMPA, Fla., — (AP) — A pair of rookies who have been going great guns in the Cincinnati Reds' intrasquad games will get a taste of real competition tomorrow.

The Reds tangle with the Boston Red Sox at Sarasota in the first exhibition game of the spring training, and manager Bucky Walters said his starting lineup would include second-saker Johnny Lane and center fielder Lloyd Merriman.

Tribe Opens 38-Contest Drill Sked

TUCSON, Ariz. — (INS) — Gene Bearden, the Cleveland Indians' ace sophomore hurler, will start on the mound in the Tribe's first exhibition game against the New York Giants tomorrow at Tucson.

Manager Lou Boudreau said that Coach Bill McKechnie, in charge of pitchers, has selected Bearden to hurl the first four or five innings against the Giants, opening the first of 38 contests in the cactus league. His opponent likely will be Larry Jansen.

MAKE FIRST START

Bob Feller and Frank Papish made their first starts of the 1949 spring training season yesterday and led their team, Harder's Pals, to a 2-1 victory ocer Susce's Pets.

The fireballer, who pitched four scoreless innings, limited his opposition to two hits, walked two and struck out one. Papish, left-hander obtained from the Chicago White Sox, finished the game, allowing three hits and one run.

The Pets, however, were only given four hits by Pitchers Early Wynn and rookie George Anderman, a 20-year-old southpaw.

Wynn, who came to the Indians in a trade with Washington, looked exceptionally fast, giving the Pals two hits in the four frames he twirled. One of them, however, was a home run by Third Baseman Ken Keltner, who connected for the Tribe's first round-tripper of the spring season.

PLENTY OF SPEED

Anderman showed that he has plenty of speed by fanning four of the Pals in the five innings he pitched. He gave up two hits and walked two.

Both the hits given up by the rookie were made by Roberto Avila, the Mexican second baseman. He was the only man on either team to collect two hits, one of which accounted for the winning run in the ninth.

First Is Baseball

CHICAGO — (UP) — Michigan state probably will become a participating member of the western conference at the annual May meeting, it appeared today, but the Spartans will not be able to have a league schedule in a team sport until the baseball campaign of 1950 at the earliest.

Eight Keglers Chop Wood to '600' Tune

Ice was prevalent yesterday and Mansfield bowlers were pretty slick themselves, turning in eight honor roll scores in five leagues.

Bill "Doc" Daugherty set the pace in the Tappan Stove league with a rousing 637 on games of 223, 181 and 233. J. Harrod of the same league chopped wood to the tune of 201-175-234—610.

The two leaders spreadeagled the field as Sel Michalski was third with 176-213-156—545. Others: J. Kleer, 542; V. Shaffer, 532; C. Donnan, 527, and J. Mabee, 526. P. Schmunk topped the oddity list with 119-200-139—458.

★

Six of the "600" blasts were fashioned in the tough Commercial B league. Bart Haley, No. 3 man on the Zitzer's Maytag crew, was tops with 199-200-219—618 while Dean Hahn, Yuncker's, trailed with 180-237-195—612.

Colony boss Art Hilborn, rolling with Yuncker's, was third with 232-192-186—610. The other top men were: Joe DeYarman, Rose Bowl, 167-195-245 — 607, George Gump, Oak Park Tavern, 210-200-192—602 and Jim Brown, Ringside, 212-204-185—601.

Also in the top strata were: Earl Robertson, Oak Park, 223 and a 593; C. Heilman, Schroer's, 589, and J. Harrod, Ingram-Martin, 225 and a 574. Earl Korn, Mansfield Rug, chipped in with a 234, Farrell Hipp, Yuncker's, had a 231; John Waldman, Lions club, 231; and Bob Hilborn, Yuncker's, 224.

Ed Henrich, the Schroer's anchor man, led off with games of 208 and 204 but tapered to 160 and 572.

Rose Bowl had a whopping single game of 1003 while Yuncker's remained in first with a two of three game win over Zitzer's while second-place Dearman's had the same bulge over Fancee Brands Foods.

Rose Bowl took three from Mansfield Rugs for the only sweep.

★

Lead in the Amvets Auxiliary bowling league went to Dorothy Kepler, Drive-in-Ette, with 168-139-132—439 while Pollyanna Boone of the same team had 132-147-135—414. Margie Mackto, Hughes Hardware, had a 393 and Margie Fox, Brandenburg Chevrolet, 386.

Drive - in - Ette took three straight from Hughes and topped the teams with 1815 at the Richland lanes.

★

Ohio Sport Center rolled on in the Women's Commercial A league as it boasted the top team and individual single game and series in both team and individuals divisions, three women over 500 and a sweep from Lemley's Cleaners.

Sport Center had an 864 game and a 2494 series while Sue Humphrey put together 179-186-20—566 for top series of the night. Dot McDevitt was runnerup and held single game honors with 175-214-161—550.

Ann Sauer completed the Sport Center domination with a 539 series and a 202 single game.

Others over the 500 mark were Kate Herf, Mansfield Beverage, 547; Flo Handwork, City News, 539; Helen Civay, Mansfield Beverage, 520; Evelyn Marshman, Lemley's Cleaners, 513; Thelma Cox, Mansfield Frosted Foods, 509; Evelyn Hockenberry, PD's Bar 508.

★

Mitsch's Knocks Hardwares Out of 'Medal' Meet

Urschel and Shelby Advance to Semis

Urschel Insurance, Frankie Mitsch's Corner Store and Shelby Gump's joined Penn Auto-Sporting Goods in the semi-final bracket of the Gold Medal basketball tournament last night as they won quarter-final games.

These four clubs will battle it out tonight on the John Simpson floor for the right to play in Monday's final game. The two City A league clubs, Penn and Urschel's, tangle at 7, while Mitsch's and Shelby go at it an hour later.

Mitsch's, the Class B team which swept through the American league race undefeated, stopped Ed Chatlain and his Martin Hardware mates last night, 50-35, to get their berth. Chatlain scored only 12 points but ran his tournament count to 77 for three games, which is far and away the best of the meet.

Mitsch's trailed at the quarter, 9-7, but took command at the half, 22-17, and were never headed.

KOMITO'S OUT

Another City A team fell by the wayside as Shelby Gump's walloped Komito's Clothes, 62-48. Gump's led all the way as big Ed Vanderbile and Lucas dumped in 16 points each.

Scoring honors for the night went to Nick Gagich as he led Urschel's in a second half comeback which ousted Richland Beverage, 58-45. Gagich poured 18 points through the hoop to help the Insurancemen overcome a 23-19 Richland half-time lead.

26 IN THIRD

Urschel's jumped to the front with a 26-point third period and Richland was never in the ball game thereafter.

Finals of the tournament will be played next Monday at Johnny Appleseed. Over a hundred medals and trophies are to be presented at the final session.

All-Ohio Fives Of Colleges Named By INS

Size, speed, scoring ability and general all-round class — they're all in the 1948-49 edition of the all-Ohio basketball squad announced today by International News Service.

From giant Charley Share to little Chuch Buttermore, the top 10 Ohio college cagers of the year, as chosen by the state's coaches themselves, rank with the best performers in the country.

Seldom have 10 men been so outstanding in their field.

Five of the group — Share of Bowling Green, Buttermore of Ohio Wesleyan, Leroy Thompson of Kent State, Paul Schnackenberg of Miami, and im Cochrane of Western Reserve — were virtual unanimous selections of the coaches against whose teams they performed.

And almost equally brilliant were Jud Millhon, the state's leading scorer from Ohio Wesleyan; Eppa Rixey, Kenyon's three-time all-Ohio; Mac Otten, Share's running mate at Bowling Green; Earl Shaw, Wooster's top star, and Ralph Richter, the Cincinnati flash.

Five centers were named to the squad by the coaches, but Share and Thompson were named most frequently to the pivot post. Both are juniors, with one more year of eligibility apiece remaining.

The six-foot, 11-inch Share, who received all-America mention last year, once again paced the Beegees this season with a 16-plus average for 27 games. Thompson, Kent's leading scorer, and Share both are repeaters from last year's honor squad.

Bucyrus Semis Listed Tonight

BUCYRUS — Semi-finals in the class B district tournament will be played here tonight with Sandusky St. Mary's meeting Sycamore of Wyandot county and undefeated Salem township, also of Wyandot county, playing Attica of Seneca county.

St. Mary's, with a season record of 15 wins and three losses, is favored over Sycamore, which has won 16 and lost 10. Salem, which will be seeking its 26th straight win, is given the edge over Attica with a record of 20 wins out of 23 games.

The championship game will be played at 8 p. m. Saturday and the winner will participate in the regional tournament beginning next Thursday in Toledo.

Tall Toothpick Battles Belloise

NEW YORK — (UP) — J. T. Ross, an elongated stick of dynamite from San Jose, Calif., will try to prove tonight in his Madison Square Garden debut that he is not only the world's tallest middleweight but also a socker deserving of a title shot.

However, the "terrific toothpick" from the golden west had a tough assignment. He was pitted against Steve Belloise, the explosive Bronx veteran who is rated No. 2 among 160-pound contenders.

Ohioans Are Elected To Pin Group Posts

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. — (AP) — The National Bowling Writers association last night elected Tom Bolger of the Toledo Times president, succeeding Paul Walker, executive sports editor of the Columbus, O., Dispatch.

Other officers elected included Fritz Howell of the Associated Press at Columbus, vice president.

Jimmy, Lew In Easy Win

MIAMI, Fla. — (AP) — The team of Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Calif., and Lew Worsham of Oakmont, Pa., was considered the one to beat today as play entered the second round of the $10,000 Miami international four-ball golf tournament.

Demaret and Worsham scored a 9 and 7 triumph over Ed Furgol of Royal Oak, Mich., and George Fazio of Conshokohken, Pa., over the 6,630-yard par 70 Miami Springs Country Club course yesterday.

They used only 100 strokes on the 29 holes they played, with a best ball of 33-30—63 on the morning round and a 31 for the afternoon nine. They bagged 12 birdies.

Eaton, 1948 Class B Cage Champ, Is Out of Running

By FRITZ HOWELL, Ohio AP Sports Editor

COLUMBUS—The race for Ohio's Class B high school basketball title was wide open today.

Eaton's Golden Eagles, 1948 victors, were ushered to the sidelines last night in the Xenia district meet, bowing 36-40 to Phillipsburg's Thunderbolts, champions of Montgomery county.

It was Phillipsburg's 21st win in 24 starts, and the sixth loss in 20 games for the deposed rulers of the state's 930 Class B schools.

The Golden Eagles were not the only highly-rated team to bow in the "lose and out" classic. Walnut Creek, the Amish Cinderella club from Holmes county where 12 of the school's 14 boys are on the team, hit the end of the victory trail at the hands of Scio, 57 to 55. The game was played Wednesday night and Bob Hugh's field goal in the last three seconds halted Walnut Creek's string at 25 in a row.

BAKER GETS 35

Olive Branch also dropped out in the district finals at Springfield, losing its second in 24 as Hollansburg of Darke county, paced by Center Jack Baker's 35 points, rolled to a surprising 65-52 verdict.

Beaver, beaten only once in 22 games, was upset 58-44 by an underdog Minford team at Waverly, the victors boosting their record to 16-11.

Action was limited in Class A, but breaks out everywhere tonight with a host of top-flight contests. Defending champion Findlay goes up against a red-hot Bucyrus club at Findlay, each having been beaten twice.

Another notable clash, at Dayton, brings together Dayton Stivers (14-4) and Middletown (17-3) in a scrap of ex-champs. Stivers has taken the state crown nine times and Middletown three.

Lancaster, with two one-point defeats on its 23-game record, powered its way to a 68-52 win over Athens (17-4) at Athens last night, and will meet Portsmouth (17-4) in Saturday's finals for a berth in the Cincinnati regional. Portsmouth is the only team holding a decision over powerful Hamilton Public, which has a regional berth at Cincy clinched with a 21-1 record.

PORTSMOUTH WINS

Portsmouth hit the district finals with a 64-59 win over Hillsboro (18-4), but the decision may have been a costly one. In the final four seconds Guard Bert Barney of the Trojans fell on his back and head and was taken to the hospital for X-rays.

Of last year's four Class A finalists, only North Canton is still in the running, but three of the four in Class A—Findlay, Coshocton and Canton South—still have a chance. All see action tonight.

5 Games Open Junior Court Joust at F-H

Entries in the Friendly House Junior basketball tournament were cut to 13 yesterday as five games helped get the meet under way.

Advancing to second round play were the Bulldogs, Highlanders, Herm's Boys, Main Sandwich, and East Mansfield. The Highlanders eliminated the Blue Devils, 36-30, Herm's Boys beat South Boulevards, 30-22, Rex Juniors fell to Main Sandwich, 24-21, East Mansfield trimmed First Lutheran 29-23, and the Bulldogs outlasted Baptist church, 36-30.

FOUR TONIGHT

Four more games will be played tonight D and M Cigar Store meets North Side Juniors at 4 p. m., the Junior Optimists face Grace Gospel at 6:30, Collins Grocery vies with Sutters at 7:15, and Frank's Grocery battles the Catholic Foresters at 8.

Middlebrook of Herm's Boys and Bill Lanning of the Highlanders shared scoring honors with 17 points each last night.

Coach Retires

DAYTON — (INS) — Dwight Bushong, basketball coach at Dayton's Wilbur Wright high school, announced his retirement from the field today.

Grimm Turns Writer, Calls Cubs First Division Threat

By CHARLIE GRIMM, Manager of the Chicago Cubs

(Written exclusively for International News Service)

LOS ANGELES—We hope to be much better in 1949, when, as I view it, Brooklyn, Boston and St. Louis will be the main contenders for the pennant.

As soon as last season ended, we began to plug the holes that had caused us to finish in last place for only the second time in history.

We acquired Frankie Gustine, an experienced and capable third baseman, from Pittsburgh, giving up Catcher Clyde McCullough, who didn't figure in our plans.

PITCHING UP

When we were lucky enough to get Dutch Leonard, knuckle ball artist, and Walt Dubiel, who has a great sinker, from the Phillies, we made ourselves definitely a first division contender. We gave the Phils Eddie Waitkus and Hank Borowy.

Waitkus is a fine first baseman and we hated to part with him, but Phil Cavaretta is still one of the best first sackers in my book.

To add a little speed and punch to the outfield, we also added Harry Walker, who won the league batting championship two years ago.

Our promising young pitchers, who lost a lot of games while gaining experience last year, should be a lot better. A man who might help us until fellows like Bob McCall, McLish and Bob Rush come into their own, is Mort Cooper, the former Cardinal great. Mort is in great shape and appears to have the desire to pitch winning ball again.

Of course, the most important thing about the Gustine deal is that last year we had the national league's best center fielder playing third base. Andy Pafko did a great job at a position he had never played before, but he belongs in the outfield.

LISTS LINEUP

Going down our lineup, here are the cubs probable front-liners:

Catchers — Bob Scheffing and young Al Walker.

Pitchers — The great left-hander, Johnny Schmitz, of course, and Leonard, Dubiel, McCall, Rush, Cooper and Doyle Lade for other starting assignments. For relief, we have two dependables, Emil Kush and Jess Dobernic. Dwain Sloat, drafted from St. Paul, also figures.

Infield — Cavaretta and Gustine with Emil Verban at second and Roy Smalley at short.

Outfield — Pafko, Walker and Hal Jeffcoat are experienced major leaguers. Cliff Aberson hit .329 for Los Angeles last year with 34 home runs, and Carmen Mauro is up from Nashville after a fine year.
